CHANSOR IS EXPULSED BY UNIVERSITY

President Barrows Approves Findings of Student Body in Case of College Editor Accused of "Obscenity"

Following His Dismissal the Author of Satires Sends in Letter Telling of Alleged Vulgarity at U. C. Rally

BERKELEY, Dec. 12.—Because he was deemed an "objectionable student" Roy Edwin Chanslor, 23-year-old senior editor of "Laughing Horse," yesterday was expelled from the University of California.

Chanslor was summoned to the office of President David P. Barrows late yesterday afternoon, where the findings of the student affairs committee, which administers the affairs of self-government on the campus, were read to him by the university head.

"I heartily approve of the action of the committee," was Dr. Barrows' comment to Chanslor.

In the "findings" of the committee, which the president's office would not release publicly today, it was stated that Chanslor had been given a copy, as detailed in a recent issue of the current issue of "Laughing Horse" for which Chanslor was arrested. He later won a dismissal of the case.

THREE THINGS THAT STIRRED OBJECTION.

The student affairs committee, in their findings, objected to three things. In this month's issue of "Laughing Horse," they were an alleged obscene letter written by D. H. Lawrence, English novelist, reviewing a privately published book by Ben Hecht; a satire on the Lord's Prayer and a poem entitled "Little Fly."

While no mention was made of an attack on President Barrows and the university regents from the pen of Upton Sinclair, which featured by Chanslor to be the real basis of his dismissal from the university, Chanslor today sent a long letter to Dr. Barrows, reviewing his case and declaring that he was convinced that the Sinclair articles as reprinted from another publication by him was the cause of his expulsion.

Chanslor declared today that he would make no effort to secure reinstatement at the University of California, although he had but six months more before his college course would have been completed.

"CAN OFFER NOTHING TO ME" SAYS CHANSOR.

"An institution which cannot see the light of modern thought; which evades issues with petty evasions and offers nothing to me," declares Chanslor. "It is not a sheepskin which counts so much but it is what one acquires from association with a higher institution of learning."

Chanslor was "tried" last week before the student affairs committee, of which Earl G. Steel, president of the Associated Students, is chairman. He was asked to explain the reasons for publishing certain articles. The next day a statement from the student affairs committee condemning "Laughing Horse" as obscene and objectionable was printed in the "Daily Californian." This was taken by campus circles to mean that the case against Chanslor was closed. As a result the news of Chanslor's expulsion came today as a decided shock to the campus.

WOULD NOT APOLOGIZE FOR MAGAZINE'S TONE.

Chanslor, who is a native of California, in fact he was rather proud of it, today declared Earl Steel, speaking for the student affairs committee. "I have shown a desire to curb his present tendencies unaccountably nothing would have been done, but he announced his intention of continuing his present course. The members of the student affairs committee, while realizing that the punishment meted out is very severe, felt that this kind of thing could not be countenanced at the university. We discussed the case from all angles and action was taken only after deliberate consideration. The action of the committee in voting the expulsion of Chanslor was unanimous. We are sorry, but there was nothing for us to do in the light of our duty to our university."

Neither Dr. Barrows nor any of his associates in the president's office would discuss the incident, declaring that the findings of the student affairs committee were never commented upon in that all discussions before that body are supposed to be of a "secret" nature. Chanslor in his letter today to Dr. Barrows declared that smoker rallies held on the campus presented more obscenity than his publication dared to show.

"I wanted me to apologize for my magazine; I would not do it," he declared. "I am not ashamed."

EX-KAISER JILTED HER SAYS WOMAN

Frau von Rochow, Aristocrat, Charges Calumny After Blighted Troth.

(Foreign rights reserved.)
(Copyright, 1922, by International News Service.)

(A shattered romance in the life of William Hohenzollern, former German kaiser, and the breaking of a secret engagement that had lasted for six months, is herewith revealed to the world for the first time by International News Service. The former German kaiser, infatuated with Frau Gabriele von Rochow, member of an ancient German house, but not of royal blood, sought her hand before he became engaged to Princess Hermine of Reuss, but the engagement was recalled. The ex-kaiser married Princess Hermine, at Doorn, Holland, November 5 (last).

By S. D. WYER.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, Dec. 12.—The human triangle being no respecter of persons, bobbed up one day at Castle Doorn, entered without knocking and rudely broke up the secret romance in the life of William Hohenzollern, former German emperor. And then it began to play its old heartless game entitled "The Woman Pays."

The woman who, in this case, paid and paid and paid—and is still paying in heart blood, in friendship, in respect and in social prestige, is Frau Gabriele von Rochow who, for six months, was secretly engaged to marry Wilhelm Hohenzollern.

She broke off the engagement after the kaiser's marriage (as Wilhelm's entourage at Doorn is now known) had attacked her for two reasons:

1.—While she belongs to the so-called "radical" which is the oldest and proudest aristocracy in the empire, her former lover was a knight in Brandenburg long before the advent of the Hohenzollerns—she is not of royal blood; therefore, it would have been a misalliance if the former kaiser had been returned to the German throne.

2.—The members of the kaiser's entourage disapproved of any remarriage, preferring to keep the kaiser's marriage under their own wings who might look into their cards.

Strange as it may seem, these two women—Frau von Rochow, who lost, and Princess Hermine of Reuss, who won in the game of love—have one common emotion and uttered it to me in almost identical words. It is the most bitter, undying hatred against the members of the former kaiser's entourage at the House of Doorn.

PUBLIC SCANDAL IS THREATENED.

Right here it should be said that

$50,000 Dope Seizure

Involves Film Actor

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LEAD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Narcotics valued at $50,000 and the names and addresses of about 1000 persons said by the police to be selling agents and addicts, were seized early today by Deputy Police Commissioner Carlton Simmons and a force of agents. William Williams, in whose apartment the drugs were found, was arrested and is held for investigation.

Among the seized letters and cards Deputy Commissioner Simmons said, was one from a well-known motion picture actor in Hollywood, Cal., indicating that the actor acted as a selling agent. California authorities were notified of the seizure and requested to make an investigation.

OAKLAND TO BE GREAT FRUIT PORT

Ten-Million-Dollar Shipping Concern to Erect Big Cooling Plant and Dock Vessels Here; Refrigerator Line

Company Expects to Handle 400,000 Tons of State Produce in Season; Articles of Incorporation Are Filed

Selecting Oakland above other Pacific Coast ports, and assigning to this city a commercial importance on the Pacific Coast ranking with the positions occupied by Boston, New York and Baltimore on the Atlantic seaboard, the Motor Ship Service Corporation, a $10,000,000 capital stock concern, will establish in Oakland large cooling and storage plants, with a capacity of 400,000 tons of produce per season, Maurice Selig, an officer of the corporation, announced today at Sacramento at a meeting of the California Transportation Committee.

The announcement was made coincident with the filing of articles of incorporation in the Secretary of State's office of the Motor Ship Service Corporation, which proposes the establishment of a refrigerating shipping service through the Panama Canal to eastern ports.

Selig told the members of the California Transportation Committee that the new shipping company proposes to put twelve ships in service by next August, carrying 400,000 tons of produce per season, and that free cooling and storage plants would be established at Oakland on the Pacific Coast, and at Boston, New York, and Baltimore on the eastern coast.

Major General C. A. Devol of Menlo Park has been appointed general manager of the company, Selig said, and W. H. Morrow of San Francisco, assistant manager.

Chicago Bandits Rob Bank Messenger

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—(By The Associated Press.)—Four bandits held up a messenger for the Logan Square Trust and Savings Bank and robbed him of $19,000 today in the busy Logan Square business district.

HUGO, Minn., Dec. 12.—Three masked men held up the bank here today, forced F. E. Carpenter, assistant cashier, and a customer into the directors' room and fled with $3360, mostly in cash.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 12.—While the main lobby of the five-story stock exchange building was filled with cattle commission men and stock yards employees this afternoon, three bandits shot and probably fatally wounded Thomas E. A. Henry, credit manager of the Drovers National Bank, and escaped with loot reported to be $96,000.

Duke of Abercorn Is North Erin Head

BELFAST, Dec. 12.—(By The Associated Press.)—The Duke of Abercorn, appointed governor of Northern Ireland by King George, was sworn in today. The ceremony took place in the courthouse here in the presence of Premier Craig and the other members of the Ulster cabinet, the local members of the privy council and the judges of Northern Ireland. The oath was administered by Sir Denis Henry, the lord chief justice.

Chinese Bandits Free Captured Missionary

PEKING, Dec. 12.—(By The Associated Press.)—An American missionary, kidnapped by bandits in Honan province on October 13 last, has been released it was announced here today.

Three other Americans are still held captive and the diplomatic corps here has appointed a commission which will start for Honan province, Thursday, to negotiate their release.

U. S. Consul Shot By Malta Mad Man

VALETTA, Malta, Dec. 12.—(By The Associated Press.)—Mason Mitchell, of New York, American consul on the island of Malta, was shot and wounded today near Baccara. His assailant escaped, but pursuit was taken up. Mitchell was taken to a physician for treatment.

"I know nobody who could have done this," exclaimed Mitchell. The shooting is generally attributed to a crazed man.

Harding Approves Pitney Retirement

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—President Harding has signed the bill authorizing the retirement of Associate Justice Pitney of the Supreme Court, it was announced today. Pitney has been in ill health.

CLUB HEAD THROWN OUT BY WOMAN

Mrs. May Samuels, Secretary of Central Improvement Body, Ejects John Scott, President, From Gathering

Members Faint As Executive Dragged Down Aisle and Pushed Out Door; Formed Rival Board, She Explains

After a short, sharp, snappy battle that turned Emerson school auditorium into confusion last night Secretary May Samuels of the Central Oakland Improvement Club forcibly discharged President John Scott of the Central Oakland Improvement Club by lugging him down the aisle and out of the door.

The secretary thereupon hurried the president's coat through the door, followed by the president's rubbers.

Accounts of the battle vary, according to various communiques issued after the engagement by some of the forty members of the Central Improvement club. Some assert that Secretary May Samuels kicked the presidential shins and tore the executive clothes, also punching a few times at the presidential anatomy.

WOMAN FAINTS DURING WILD EXCITEMENT.

Mrs. Samuels merely asserts that she "helped him out" by shoving him through the doorway into the rain.

During the fracas, it is admitted, the Central Oakland Improvement club was thrown into a state of confusion. One woman fainted and was revived in an anteroom.

Mrs. Samuels alleges that Scott's discharge was the result of his activities in forming a rival club in the same district.

"He built another club in the same territory and tried to disrupt ours," she explained. "He tried to control both clubs. Last night he appeared at our meeting, bringing about seven members of his new organization. I asked his resignation. I charged him in front of our membership and demanded that he get out."

"Finally I kicked him out. I grabbed him by the arm, ran him out, and sent his coat and rubbers after him."

"If the President of the United States took upon himself to originate another government in opposition to our own, he'd be shot for treason."

Furthermore, according to Mrs. Samuels, President Scott will "stay fired."

John C. Scott, president of the club, and a prominent attorney, made the following statement:

"WOMAN JUST EXCITED," PRESIDENT SCOTT SAYS.

"I think the matter was just a little excited and although there were some traces of violence, I merely went out and kept my temper. I did not resign as president of the club and am not particularly interested in the events of last night. I am too busy to fool with that kind of nonsense."

"The woman charged that I was helping to create a rival organization. That was a mistake and she knew it. I did not form any such rival club."

"The Central Oakland Improvement Club is a good substantial organization and is doing a good work. I think that the episode of last night had best be forgotten."

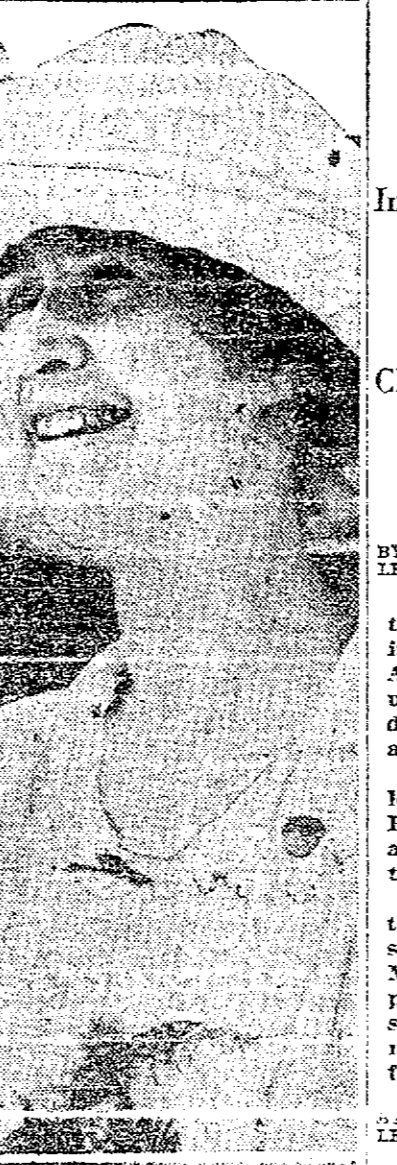

Mrs. Samuels, as secretary of the Central Oakland Improvement Club, proceeded with the regular order of business for the meetings.

WOMAN LOOKS FOR NOW.

"Everything's lovely now," said Mrs. Samuels.

A committee of one was appointed to lobby at Sacramento in favor of amending the motor vehicle law for the purpose of obtaining larger allotments from fund for the city of Oakland.

NEW CLEW GIVES HOPE FOR FLYERS

President Obregon Wires Permit For Search in Mexico.

NOGALES, Ariz., Dec. 12.—President Obregon has wired Colonel McNab, commanding the twenty-fifth infantry here, giving permission to American aviators to cross the international line to search for Colonel Francis Marshall and Lieutenant Charles Webster, missing army aviators who are lost in the desert.

Word was brought here today that a Mexican in Nogales, Sonora, returning from Saric, a Mexican town, saw two men in uniform walking half a mile distant from him. He did not stop and said he was unable to judge whether they were the missing aviators or not.

Colonel McNab is investigating the matter and has ordered several planes started in that direction.

Colonel Edward Vinans, directing the search from Tucson, reported that his planes had made an intensive survey of the Santa Rita mountain district where it was reported a disabled airplane was seen Sunday, without success.

The squadron of the Tenth Cavalry from Fort Huachuca has joined in the search. Twelve airplanes were at work in the Arizona district today and nine others from San Diego were flying over the border.

Governor Elias has wired all villages in North Sonora to join the search.

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 12.—Search for the missing army aviators, Colonel Francis Marshall and Lieutenant Charles L. Webster, will be continued largely to Mexican territory south of that region between Yuma and Tucson, Ariz., today, it was announced at Rockwell Field here.

Will Shoot De Valera On Sight, Is Report

DUBLIN, Dec. 12.—(By International News Service.)—Irish Free State military officials have ordered Eamonn de Valera, chief leader of the republican cause, shot on sight. It was reported throughout Dublin this afternoon. The authorities refused to confirm or deny the report. De Valera is said to be hiding in or near Dublin. He and Liam Lynch are the last of the powerful republican leaders at large.

DAUGHERTY CASE STIRS SOLONS' IRE

Impeachment Proceedings Against Attorney-General Get Under Way and Row Developed in Committee

Chairman Volstead Declares Not Scintilla of Evidence Produced to Substantiate Charges; Motives Sought

BY UNITED PRESS
LEAD WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Actual taking of testimony in the impeachment proceedings against Attorney-General Daugherty got under way before the House judiciary committee this afternoon after hours of bitter wrangling.

First evidence was on the alleged unfitness of William J. Burns, appointed by Daugherty as chief of the bureau investigation.

Through official reports from the Department of Justice counsel for Representative Keller, Minnesota, author of the impeachment resolution, sought to show that Burns "railroaded" a man to jail in an Oregon land fraud case in 1912.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The House judiciary committee decided today it was not necessary to call Chief Justice Taft to testify at its hearing of the Keller impeachment charges against Attorney-General Daugherty.

When the hearing opened, the anti-Daugherty faction was represented by Ralston and by Representative Keller, Republican of Minnesota, author of the charges against the attorney general. Representative Volstead, Republican of Minnesota, chairman of the committee, told Ralston as the out-of-town Jackson Ralston, chief counsel for the American Federation of Labor, and various members of the committee.

"Up to date," said Volstead, "you have not produced a scintilla of evidence on any of these charges presented. Why are you afraid to present your evidence? This committee is not packed."

"We are dealing with William J. Burns," replied Ralston, "and we know his methods."

Attorney General Daugherty was represented by Paul Howard, former congressman from Cleveland, who demanded Keller and Ralston name the men they said were associated with the charges.

"I consider that impertinent and of no bearing on the proceedings," said Ralston.

Representative Jefferts of Nebraska interrupted.

"The committee and the country would like to know," Jefferts said, "whether this impeachment is in good or bad faith, and whether there is animus. The people would like to know who is behind the row."

RALSTON ACTS AT INSTANCE OF GOMPERS.

Ralston then said he had assisted Keller in preparing the impeachment charges at the instance of American Federation of Labor.

"This is an attempt by Mr. Daugherty to create a smoke screen," he said. "There are something over 100,000 people interested in these proceedings."

Ralston pressed his all members of the committee, Ralston said he was only prepared to proceed on charges affecting W. J. Burns, chief investigator in the Department of Justice.

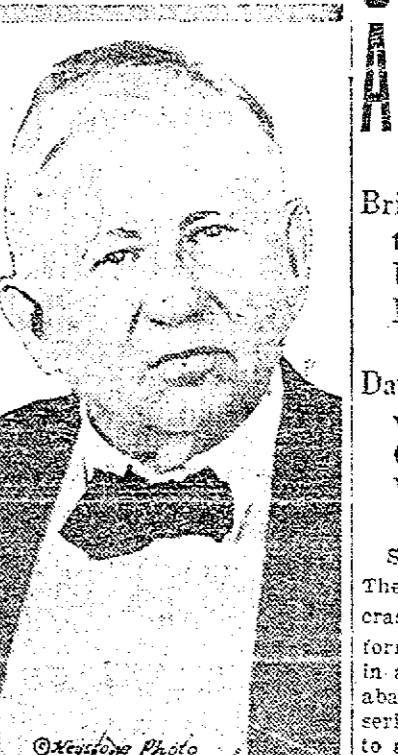

"Other charges are to be pressed by Samuel Untermyer, I understand," said Ralston.

Representative Graham, Republican, Pennsylvania, demanded that Representative Keller present his facts on which were based the charges to be pressed by Untermyer.

"I'll present that when I am ready," said Keller.

"Oh, no, you won't," said Graham. "This committee is conducting the investigation and it will not be run by you. This is an evasion."

Store Magnate Dies
JOHN WANAMAKER, former cabinet member, famed owner of department stores in Philadelphia and New York, is dead after an illness of several weeks.

JOHN WANAMAKER SUCCEUMBS AT 84

Sudden Relapse Is Fatal For Former Postmaster-General, Veteran Merchant.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Dec. 12 (United Press).—John Wanamaker died here today. He was 84 years old.

Wanamaker, founder of the stores bearing his name in New York and Philadelphia, and former postmaster-general, had been ill for several weeks.

Within the last few days, however, his condition took a turn for the better and the end came suddenly after a relapse.

A bulletin issued at Wanamaker's residence shortly after 8 o'clock read:

"Mr. Wanamaker died peacefully at 8 a. m."

John Wanamaker was born July 11, 1838, in Philadelphia county, Pa. His father, John Nelson Wanamaker, was a brickmaker and his paternal grandfather a farmer. His ancestors were among the earliest settlers under William Penn.

A short time later the family moved to Indiana, but in 1856 returned to Philadelphia, the boy securing a better position in a clothing store, where he at once impressed the owner with his ability.

In 1858, after a brief trip for his health to Minnesota, he returned to Philadelphia as the first secretary of the Y. M. C. A., then in its formative period.

When the civil war broke out he was among the first to volunteer, but was rejected because of his lungs. Despite this he organized the "Christian Commission," which became one of the great bodies for extending aid to the sick and wounded of both sides.

The day for Sumter was bombarded by the Confederates saw his first business enterprise—a small clothing store, in partnership with Nathan Brown, whose sister he had married. The first day's sales amounted to $24.67.

INAUGURATED

The one-price system, as distinct from the then prevailing method of haggling over an article, was inaugurated by Wanamaker, who also made a departure from the custom of the day by spending as much as he could spare on newspaper advertising.

From humble beginnings the clothing store soon became one of the largest retail establishments of its kind in the country.

Staid business men of Philadelphia were astounded in 1875 to hear that Wanamaker had purchased the Pennsylvania railroad's freight station at Thirtieth and Market streets.

The property, comprising an entire city block, brought $500,000. Before going ahead with his own undertakings Wanamaker gave the use of the building free to the evangelistic campaign of Moody and Sankey.

The present monster department store was dedicated December 30, 1911, by President Taft, fully 30,000 persons being present at the ceremony. At the same time the French government awarded him the Croix of the Legion of Honor.

WANAMAKER WAS

POLITICALLY ACTIVE.

Politically, Wanamaker led an active life, conducting a memorable campaign against Tammany Hall in New York during the Harrison presidential campaign and becoming postmaster general. During

STEAMER ON COAST ROCKS ABANDONED

British Freighter, En Route to Eureka From S. F., Piles Up On Cliffs 70 Miles North; All Holds Are Full

Damage Too Great For Salvage, Says Radio Report; Crew Taken Off in Boats; Work of Rescue Perilous

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—

The British freighter Orteric, which crashed on Fish Rock on the California coast 70 miles north of here in a dense fog last night, is to be abandoned as the damage is too serious to attempt a tow, according to a wireless messenger received from the Orteric this morning by the Federal Wireless company station here.

"The ship is high on the rocks with her holds filled," the message said. "We are preparing to abandon her as the damage is too serious to attempt a tow."

The message was unsigned and was apparently an answer by the Orteric to radio inquiries from other ships regarding her position and chances of salvage.

MEMBERS OF CREW

SAVED IN SMALL BOATS.

At 3 o'clock this morning the crew of the Orteric was forced to seek safety on board the steamer Cottonplant, which picked up the wrecked vessel's S. O. S. calls last night and reached her side during the early morning hours. The transfer of the Orteric's crew was accomplished, with great difficulty, by the use of small boats. After an hour and a half of hazardous work, all the Asiatic members of the ship's company were taken on board the Cottonplant, but the white members of the crew remained on board.

At noon a message was received from the Orteric saying that all of the crew were being transferred to the steamer Chamomile, bound from Everett, Wash., to San Pedro, and would be brought to San Francisco. The Orteric was in an exposed condition and her engine room had begun to leak.

The Orteric, en route to Eureka, to load lumber for the Orient, ran onto the rocks last night. Presumably she lost her way in the fog. The ship is owned by the Bank Line, of Glasgow, and has a tonnage of 559.

First word of the disaster came at 10 o'clock last night when an S. O. S. signal was picked up, saying the ship had struck Fish Rock, had started pounding heavily immediately and needed help.

WATER POURING INTO TWO OF BOAT'S HOLDS.

A second radiogram picked up by the Radio Corporation of America told of water pouring into the No. 1 and No. 6 holds, and a third said she was "almost onto the beach," and later came word that the boats had been swung out preparatory to launching.

The point at which the vessel went ashore is approximately ten miles south of Point Arena and 70 miles north of San Francisco. It is one of the most dangerous stretches of the Mendocino coast, precipitous cliffs rising from the beach and making land rescue difficult.

The Cottonplant, which piles into Cnos Bay, Ore., in the lumber trade, arrived off the scene of the wreck during the early morning. Investigations at daylight and through radio reports showed the condition of the Orteric almost hopeless. She was then lying broadside on the beach, apparently full of water, which had rushed in through holes torn in her bottom when she struck Fish Rock at 10 o'clock last night and was receiving a violent battering from the combers breaking high over her.

San Francisco last night, in response to S. O. S. calls from the Orteric, sighted her about two hours after midnight. After standing by until 5:30 this morning, the El Segundo departed for San Francisco.

Big Appropriation Bill Is Increased

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—In record-breaking time the first annual appropriation bill of the present session of congress, that for the treasury department, was reported to the senate today by the appropriations committee carrying an increase of $421,000 over the house total of $115,112,000.

The bill was passed last Saturday by the house. The senate committee increases included $7500 as salary for an under secretary of the treasury, a position the house refused to authorize; $300,000 additional for customs collections, and $10,000 additional for suppression of counterfeiting.

Appropriation of $9,000,000 for prohibition enforcement was not changed by the senate committee. The senate passed the measure after a short debate.

U. S. Fleet Director And Aide Re-Marry

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 12.—Charles H. Pies, director of the United States emergency fleet corporation, secured a license to wed Miss Laura A. Cooke, of Laurel, Md., formerly his secretary. The marriage will be their second ceremony, it was said, as Pies and Miss Cooke were married within a short time after the former obtained a divorce from his wife. The second marriage, friends said, is necessitated by the Illinois divorce laws as Pies was granted no divorce in this state.

BLIGHTED TROTH

Kaiser Jilted

Frau von Rochow, Aristocrat, Bares Story of Shattered Romance.

Frau von Rochow has not the slightest bit of jealousy or envy toward the woman who won and who was led to the altar. On the contrary, she always speaks of Princess Hermine (now known in the Hohenzollern household as Kaiserin Hermine) in the kindest and most cordial terms.

The grievance lies elsewhere. Someone once said that "man's meanness may turn a woman into a tigress." Frau von Rochow has not reached that stage but she has arrived at the point where she demands satisfaction from her calumniators. Today she took the first legal step. The whole affair now threatens to branch out into a public scandal.

The facts of this story have been in the correspondent's possession for three months, but he was unable to publish them because of "the other woman."

While she poured out her soul and told the story of her romance in all its intimate details—sometimes amid tears—Frau von Rochow was absolutely loyal to the former kaiser and begged the writer not to paint him in his true light, namely, "as a coward and a cad" who, after imploring her upon his knees to marry him and finally winning her consent with the plea that he could not live without her, listened to the whispers of the "camarilla." These whispers appealed to his vanity as "tempter" and they persuaded the former war lord to throw over his affianced sweetheart in cold blood after having details of the wedding plans prepared for the German press. Then the ex-kaiser blamed it upon his aides.

CAMPAIN OF SLIGHT FOLLOWS.

But that was only the first drop of Frau von Rochow's cup of bitterness and suffering. After that followed a systematic campaign of slighting and discrediting her. For, in the meantime, Princess Hermine had appeared upon the scene. With the curiosity which is the prerogative of a bride-to-be, Hermine began to ask questions regarding Wilhelm's relations with Frau von Rochow, whose two extended visits to Doorn were common knowledge.

It was then that the campaign of intrigue and calumny was driven into Frau von Rochow's heart by Doorn—that Gabriele had been only the housekeeper at Castle Doorn. This story stands today unchallenged and undented by any members of the ex-kaiser's entourage or by the former kaiser himself.

When the correspondent first talked with Gabriele she magnanimously waved off the suspicion. This was an impartial alibi for the intended wife of the emperor, but not yet married Wilhelm Hohenzollern when this statement was made.

But even then doubt nagged at Frau von Rochow's heart. Day after day she waited patiently for a slight gesture from Doorn which would put a stop to the vicious version that she who had been Wilhelm's intimate friend for twenty years and who for six months had been his solemnly betrothed fiancée, was merely a housekeeper at Doorn.

NEVER WORD TO STOP CALUMNY.

Not a single word has come from Wilhelm to set her straight in her social stratum where the very word "housekeeper" means social death. Instead, Wilhelm has written her many letters and only a week or so ago sent her some rare plants from his Doorn botanical gardens. His letters were full of bombastic self-eulogy and empty perflage or intimate observations regarding his new wife. Only a few days prior to his wedding, the former kaiser wrote to Frau von Rochow commenting upon the "alabaster skin" of Hermine's arms, which he said "reminded me of your own."

In the meantime the lie has lived on, with Wilhelm hiding from pertinent questions from Hermine behind this falsehood as a useful alibi. That this act of faithlessness is eating away the heart and health of the woman who was willing to sacrifice everything for him does not seem to trouble Wilhelm's sleep, according to all reports from Doorn. Incidentally, all the time Gabriele was living at Doorn, she wore the same serpentine bracelet that now adorns the "alabaster arm" of the former Princess Hermine. Hermine being the third woman to wear it, as it originally belonged to the late kaiserin who died in April, 1921.

HEALTH BREAKS UNDER STRAIN.

Frau von Rochow has broken down under the strain. Her faith is shattered. Her friends declare that Gabriele, with aching heart, has finally come to see Wilhelm in his true light. Consequently this bit of melodrama is given to the world because it appears to shed more light upon the personality and character of the former war lord than any biography or memoirs yet printed.

"Laughing Horse" Editor Is Expelled by University

TWO CO-EDITORS ARE DISCLOSED.

In his letter today to Dr. Barrows, Chancellor disclosed for the first time two co-editors of the magazine in the persons of Winona Johnson and James Van Rensselaer, former students at the university, both of whom obtained leaves of absence last year. Both were well known in literary circles at the university.

Chancellor's letter to Dr. Barrows in which he reviews his case, is as follows:

"Berkeley, Dec. 11, 1922.

"Mr. David P. Barrows,

"Dear Sir: I wish to present once more my side of the case for which I was expelled from the University of California, the side which I was unable to present satisfactorily in your office, because of the fact that you had evidently made up your mind to approve my expulsion before you had heard my story. This is for your information and for the information of anyone else who may be interested in the affair as well as for my own satisfaction. I will be heard."

DECLARIES QUESTION WAS DECIDED IN NEW YORK.

"You charged that the review of Ben Hecht's 'Fanzulus Mallare,' which was written for 'Laughing Horse' by D. H. Lawrence, the distinguished English novelist, was 'decadent, obscene and degenerate' and by implication, that I, whom you held responsible for its publication, must be decadent and degenerate to publish such a thing. The letter in question is a short statement of the same general D. H. Lawrence philosophy that is explained more fully in such books by Dr. Lawrence as 'Psychoanalysis and the Unconscious' and 'Fantasia of the Unconscious,' as well as suggested in such novels of reputation by Mr. Lawrence as 'Sons and Lovers,' 'Aaron's Rod' and 'Women in Love.' The New York Times for its suppression of this attempted to suppress this letter book. Judge G. W. Simpson of New York decided the case in favor of Mr. Lawrence's publisher, Thomas Seitzer, and added that he had read the book and had not only found in it nothing objectionable, but that he considered it a distinct contribution both to modern literature and to modern thought. This publisher, Mr. Seitzer, telegraphed some time ago asking for permission to reprint, under his firm's imprint, this very letter which you have called 'decadent, obscene and degenerate.'"

"You have apparently confused the sincere and fine and beautiful expression of a great artist and a brilliant and original thinker with the crude vulgarities and obvious obscenities regularly on tap at smoker rallies and with the corrupt literature which I have heard is sold to those who desire it by hell-boys and train boys. At the smoker rally held late in November, the night before the annual California-Stanford football game, it did not strike my attention that you did anything to stop the bawdy stories and the frankly vulgar exhibition of dancing which a student in black-face gave with a dummy stuffed to represent a woman, but it did strike my attention that you sat through the spectacle in a seat in the front row, tacitly, by your silence, countenancing the whole affair. This spectacle which was frankly vulgar and obscene, apparently did not arouse in you any of the moral indignation which a letter of Mr. Lawrence did, a letter which I repeat is not obscene or corrupt or degenerate, but fine and sincere and beautiful."

EXPULSION UNDER PRETEXT, IS CLAIM.

"The truth seems to be that I have been expelled on the very pretext, that the Lawrence letter has been seized upon as a convenient excuse for expelling me from the university, that my real crime is that I have dared to print in the 'Laughing Horse' articles which offend the university and of course which could not bear criticism. In other words, being expelled from the largest university in the world for daring to express my own honest opinions and for providing an organ so that others might express their honest opinions."

"The University of California apparently has no place for men who wish to speak out, to broadcast their ideas. There is no place there for men who insist upon their right to express themselves freely and without restraint. If there is any member of the student body or faculty of the University of California who has any ideas that are different from the accepted ideas, he has had them to himself. Opinion and inquiry must be correct, must be respectable, must be approved. 'Radicals' that is those who seek to pierce through the layers of hokum and bunk and downright lies to something resembling the truth, are not wanted. May I ask then what a university is for? Is it a colossal trust-fund mill, grinding out stupid, conventional, tenth-rate imitations of the typical one-hundred per cent 'go-getter'? What encouragement, may I ask, does the University of California give to creative artists, to fearless questioners, to challengers? The answer is, NONE."

TRIES TO LET IN BREATH OF AIR.

"The 'Laughing Horse,' of which I am one of the editors, has tried in its small way, to let in a breath of air, a shaft of light to this campus. It was originally founded and has been consistently maintained, as a reaction against the complacent, stupid, blind acceptance, without thought or question, of the ideas that are consistently disseminated at this university. It has never claimed to be infallible. It has never postured as the organ of great and irrefutable truths. It has simply attempted to provide an outlet for the ideas and opinions of anyone who had any ideas or opinions to express which could not have otherwise been published."

"It has never claimed to have any official connection with the university. It has been sold outside the bounds of the campus and in San Francisco and other cities. Indeed, neither Willard Johnson, or James T. Van Rensselaer, the other two editors, have any more connection with the university."

"The facts, then, boil down to this: I have been expelled from the University of California for being one of three editors of a publication which has no connection with the university and is never sold on its grounds, on a ridiculous charge of printing obscene matter, a charge which was dismissed in the police court in less than a minute. The obvious reason for my dismissal is that I have not been afraid to express my opinion of the university and its officials and to provide other persons with an outlet for their ideas and opinions. These facts you may rest assured will be made known to every person that I can possibly reach, so that they will know the methods that the University of California uses to stifle freedom of speech, of expression, of the press. I shall, in the next issue of 'Laughing Horse,' which will be published on or about January 15, 1923, write the full history of the attempted suppression of the 'Laughing Horse' and of my opinion."

"ROY EDWIN CHANSLOR."

Chancellor is registered at the university from Berkeley and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Chanslor, 217 Perry street. He is 23 years old and has won recognition on his literary work."

Chanslor Defended By Reformed Pelican

BERKELEY, Dec. 12.—Adding fuel to the fire which has smoldered at the University of California over the arrest and today's expulsion of Roy E. Chanslor, editor of 'Laughing Horse,' came a defense of both the student editor and his publication in yesterday's 'reformed' issue of 'Pelican,' campus humor magazine.

Jack J. Lyons, editor of 'Pelican,' comments on Chanslor's arrest and the arrest of Chanslor's arrest and others attacking the magazine, including the student affairs committee which officially attacked the publication last week.

Lyons' approval of 'Laughing Horse' is expressed in part as follows:

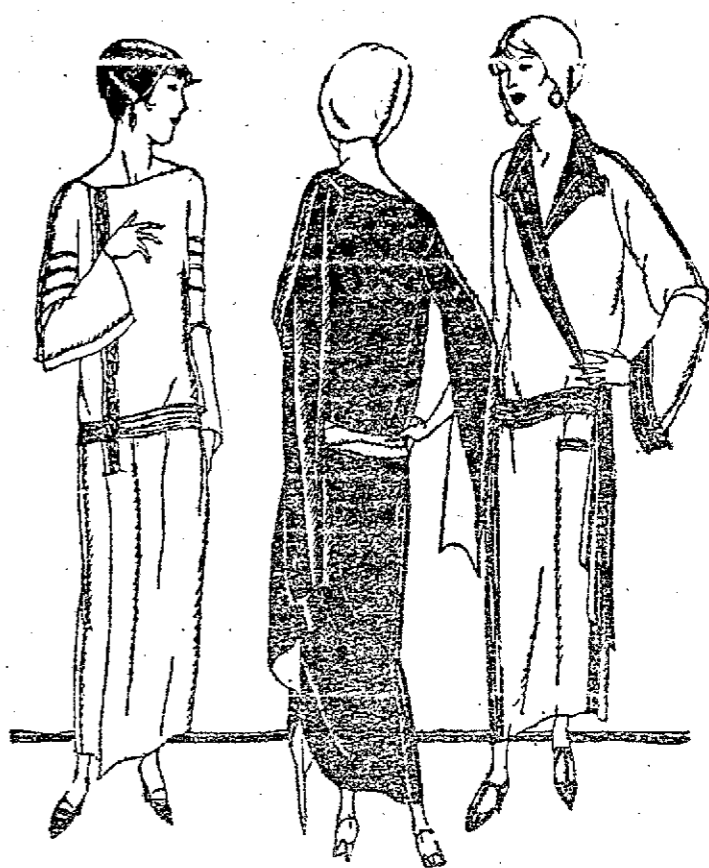

"If there is anything that would vindicate Upton Sinclair's suggestion in 'Laughing Horse' it is the student body's reaction to the magazine, for in this we exhibit those very intellectual traits Sinclair decries, a stupid and utterly blind refusal to give anything credence which might disturb the university system under which we are living."

"When the 'Laughing Horse' chose to transcend a code which our smug and simply ignorant certain student leaders formed a pompous delegation and demanded that booksellers take the magazine from their stands."

BANK BANDITS ESCAPE WITH $5000 LOOT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—Southern California authorities were today conducting a search for the bandits who held up President C. E. Spencer of the Fillmore State Bank at Piru, Ventura county, yesterday. The bandits took $5000 in currency, and then forced Spencer and his five-year-old daughter, who was in the bank with him, to get into the bandit machine and come to Los Angeles with them. On arriving here early yesterday evening, the bandits forced Spencer and the child to get out near Westlake Park and sped away. They were soon lost in the traffic.

Unemployed Invade House of Commons

LONDON, Dec. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—A turbulent, but short lived scene was staged this afternoon in the great central hall adjoining the lobby of the House of Commons when the police ejected a crowd of fifty unemployed men, who had invaded the place and begun singing the "Red Flag" and waving placards.

Nurse to Become Bride of Physician

The romance today in the announcement that Miss Zelma Clark, an attractive nurse, will leave for New York on Friday where her marriage with Dr. Richard G. Watson, of Berkeley, will take place. For two years Miss Clark has been connected with the Dover street institution specializing in infant care. Dr. Watson, child specialist, has been a staff physician until recently when he left for New York to continue his study of infantile diseases. He and his bride plan to remain on the Atlantic coast until the spring when they will return to Oakland to establish their home. Miss Clark is the daughter of the first white child born in Marin county, where her father's people were among the earliest settlers. She formerly made her home at Tomales.

Armenia Population Dwindles to 130,000

LAUSANNE, Dec. 12.—(By International News Service.)—Massacre, enforced flight and famine have reduced the Armenian population from 2,000,000 to 130,000. Lord Curzon declared in the Near East peace conference this afternoon.

WANAMAKER DIES AFTER SUDDEN RELAPSE, AT 84

Active Life As Former Postmaster-General, Merchant Prince Closes.

ing his incumbency he supervised the development of the Pacific coastal mail service and did much to eliminate Sunday work among postal employees. In Pennsylvania he ran for senator and governor, much against his personal desires. In religious work he has perhaps attained his greatest fame as founder of Bethany Sunday school, which boasts one of the largest memberships in the country. Addresses by Wanamaker have always been a feature of services there which have attracted many visitors to Philadelphia. Among his many charitable works are his Men's Friendly Inn for drunkards who desire to reform, the Bethany Brotherhood House, a recreation center, and his schools for his employees. Asked the motto of his life Wanamaker once replied: "Thinking, trying, trying—these will spell success in any undertaking."

Wanamaker Won Success Through Publicity Policy

MY THOMAS H. MOORE, Associate Director, Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers' Association, and Former Advertising Manager for John Wanamaker. (Written for International News Service.)

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Newspaper advertising owes a greater debt to John Wanamaker than to any other man in this generation. It is unfair to say that his business success was due to advertising because it was primarily due to his integrity, high principles and marvelous merchandising genius. But it was advertising that made the business known. With his "Wanamaker" he started a clothing store in Philadelphia in 1881 with a capital of $5000. I have often heard tell how the first day's sales were $24.67 and I have seen the old ledger kept in his own handwriting that verified this fact. The 24 cents was put back in the drawer for change and the 67 was spent for newspaper advertising.

From the beginning of his business until the day of his death, John Wanamaker was largely his own advertising manager. For many years he surrounded himself with the best writers and brains he could buy, but never did he leave off his personal touch from anything that was written. I believe he was the first advertiser to use full pages in the newspapers and I am sure he was the first to recognize and insist on the exact truth in advertising. In his early sixty years he was an active merchant; he has spent many millions of dollars in the newspapers, particularly in New York and Philadelphia and has made his advertising the model that has been copied by every storekeeper in the United States.

RIVAL PAYS TRIBUTE TO WANAMAKER

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 12.—The respect in which John Wanamaker was held is perhaps best exemplified by today's advertisement of the rival department store firm of Gimbel Brothers. The advertisement, black bordered, reads: "We stand with uncovered head at the passing of that colorful Philadelphian, John Wanamaker, whose vision and ideals, squared business with right, and who gave America its conception of large business done for the public weal."

BURBANK EULOGIZES WANAMAKER

SANTA ROSA, Dec. 12.—Luther Burbank said today: "The passing of John Wanamaker deprives the world of a great merchant and a great statesman, humanitarian and world wide philanthropist of the best kind. Perhaps everybody now living, but more especially those yet to live, are directly or indirectly benefited by his beneficence which was dispensed with the same judicious ability, so well exhibited in the upbuilding of his vast establishments."

GAS STOVE CAUSES FIRE

A fire caused by a small gas stove, destroyed the rear of the home of Henry Schenbosky, at 1925 Twenty-third avenue, Sunday afternoon. The damage was estimated at $1200. The house was occupied by E. R. Wilson.

ISLAND FINANCES KEEP WOOD AT POST IN MANILA

Legislature in Office Two Months Has Failed to Take Action.

MANILA, Dec. 12. (By the Associated Press.)—General Leonard Wood, back from an inspection trip to the southern islands, discussed today his resignation as provost of the University of Pennsylvania.

Governor Wood explained that he could not leave here at present. The Philippine legislature, which has been in session nearly two months, thus far has not passed any bills of importance. In a recent message to the legislature he recommended increased taxation, including a revision of the income tax, to bring the revenue of the government up to the amount necessary to be expended. Governor Wood said he felt it would be an injustice to leave his inauguration program half finished.

Borrowed Gun To Salute Royal Luxemburg Baby

PARIS, Dec. 12. (By the Associated Press.)—The grand ducy of Luxembourg has not one piece of artillery to support its army of 250 men, says a despatch to The Matin from Metz. No gun was available even for the firing of a salute in honor of the expected accouchement of grand duchess Charlotte, the ruler.

The governor telephoned the ministry of war at Paris for the loan of a gun. A French "75" in charge of an officer and gun crew was despatched. With the gun came double the required amount of ammunition in case there should be two's.

German Will Fix Teeth of Americans

COBLENZ, Dec. 12. (By the Associated Press.)—The German dentist will hereafter tend to the teeth of the American soldiers here. The reduction of the occupation forces resulted in the return of the United States of the only military dentist.

MAN MAY PAY FOR DEFENSE OF ACCUSED WIFE

DETROIT, Dec. 12.—Ney J. Ford, wealthy Wayne county farmer, today faced the prospect that he would be required to pay for the defense of his wife, May B. Ford, who is charged with an attempt to hire a gunman to kill him. Attorneys for Mrs. Ford planned to enter a motion in circuit court that Ford advance $10,000 for preliminary attorneys' fees and $30,000 for the expense of the defense, should Mrs. Ford be held for trial at her examination Friday.

'Patriotism' and 'Prejudice' Theme

ance" was the subject on which Rabbi Rudolph I. Coffee of Temple Sinai addressed Oakland Council No. 784, Knights of Columbus, last night at its regular meeting. Rabbi Coffee said in part:

"Patriotism is absolutely incompatible with religious prejudice. Why not forget all religious differences, and say that America must be a blending of the finest ideals of all the world? I can give a solution to the great harm done by a sinister force which covers its face and its ideas under the mask of so-called pure Americanism—the Ku Klux Klan—which admits only native-born Protestants.

"I would call your attention to the remarkable crime which Alameda county has made in recent weeks. On Thanksgiving Day we had a truly historical meeting in the Civic Auditorium where the Catholic, the Protestant and the Jew worshiped God under civic auspices. I believe that every city in America should have a similar Thanksgiving union service next year."

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—Mrs. Leslie Carter, actress, has purchased a home in the Hollywood

Association Honors Eastbay Teachers

elect secretary and treasurer of the bay section of the California Teachers' Association at a meeting of the organization held in San Francisco recently. Lulu A. Shelton, also of this city, was chosen as a member of the executive committee and E. M. Cox, assistant superintendent of Oakland schools, and May C. Wade, of Berkeley, were named as representatives to the state council of education.

State Advances in Preparedness Work

residential Julius Kann of California announced last night that the militia bureau of the war department had authorized the state of California to organize four additional companies of coast artillery.

"Probably no one state in the union is further advanced in preparedness work than is the state of California," he added. "I believe first officers charged with the training of our reserve corps should be based on the coast."

Plans of the state will be developed in the near future, and will be developed in the near future, and will be developed in the near future.

6-YEAR-OLD BOY CYCLIST RIDES 25 MILES

RISBEE, Ariz., Dec. 12.—John Andrews, 6 years old, son of P. E. Andrews, of this city, yesterday started for a ride on his tricycle. Late in the afternoon a police officer in Douglas halted him for riding his tricycle on a sidewalk. Douglas is 28 miles from Bisbee. Little John, according to his story, pedaled the 28 miles in about nine and one-half hours. He was riding on a bicycle in an automobile.

George Walsh, Film Star, Given Divorce

George Walsh, film actor, was granted a divorce in the Los Angeles Superior Court yesterday from Seena Owen, film actress, whom he charged with desertion.

PLACEMENT PLAN FOR WOMEN TOLD TO SOROPTOMISTS

Speakers Outline Work of Employment Bureaus and Program of Next Year.

California is regarded by women from other States as executive ability and training as an unfortunate place to come in search of employment, according to Miss Clotilde Grunsky of San Francisco, addressing the Soroptomist club at Hotel Oakland yesterday. She said there was no avenue open to "rich class" women for obtaining positions, except by direct appeal to the employers.

Miss Grunsky outlined the program of establishing vocational and placement bureaus which has been adopted by the California Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs. They were accredited with large success by the speaker, who asserted that the employer needed the service offered fully as much as the employee.

Plans for the continuance of the Training Employment Bureau in co-operation with the Young Women's Christian Association were presented by Miss Elsie Cushing, president of the committee sponsoring the project, and Mrs. B. J. Brown, employment secretary. A budget of $2500 has been made to launch the work during the coming year. One-half this will be contributed by the Young Women's Christian Association, provided club organizations

STUDENTS SEND CHECK TO AID INJURED GIRL

ALAMEDA, Dec. 12.—The Girls' Judiciary Board of the Alameda high school are sending a Christmas gift, a ten-dollar check to sixteen-year-old Opal McNaughton, high school girl, of Redding, Calif., who was the sole survivor of the automobile accident in which a score of her companions lost their lives some months ago, according to Miss Mary Haworth, dean of girls in the institution.

Return to normal health will necessitate her undergoing treatment in a hospital for many months. W. F. Milton, editor of the Woodland Mail, sent out an appeal in her behalf. The students in the Alameda high school are among the first to respond. The money contributed was raised recently at a Country Store Sale held in the high school under the auspices of the Judiciary Board.

make up the full quota. Appeals have been made to federated clubs by the committee for contributions to the free employment service. In reviewing the work of the bureau during the past four months, Mrs. Johnson enumerated that an average of 200 applicants for positions appealed to the bureau, while 100 placements had been made in various lines. She urged a vocational service to every woman in the community.

Continuing the work after the new year, Mrs. Johnson outlined that evening hours would be kept by the bureau, and a series of talks instituted on topics practical to the employed woman. Mrs. Emily Wilkie and Mrs. B. G. Slater participated in a short discussion which followed the addresses. Miss Violet Richardson, president presided at a short business session.

TRADE HELD AID TO WORLD PEACE

Nations will rely more and more upon economic bodies to bring about harmony and accord, Henry F. Grady, director of the Foreign Trade Bureau in San Francisco and professor of foreign trade at the University of California, told the College students yesterday. Grady was the speaker at the assembly held at the University of California, College of Commerce, International Conference.

"International relations are not due entirely to economic questions but they predominate in influence," Grady declared. "The International Chamber of Commerce is growing in usefulness and some day a league may grow out of it. An international organization of some kind is imperative."

Grady offered as his opinion that as a people we are not inclined to think internationally and that we still are provincial and nationalistic in our politics. The tariff laws affecting Canada and Cuba as examples of what he considered unwise legislation which accomplished little for the United States and increased ill feeling in the countries affected.

"Can War Be Ended?" is the subject announced for the assembly hour at Mills College tomorrow. Rev. Paul Jones will be the speaker.

Drinking, Cruelty Laid to Husband

After a long and bitter fight, Carl Holmes, husband of Mrs. Carl Holmes, has been laid to rest in the cemetery. The work and spent his time drinking to excess and she finally left him in December 7, when she returned home and found him with a negro and a jug of liquor. Mrs. Holmes is a suit for divorce and $50 a month alimony. The wife further declares that an automobile and the household goods at 3211 East Twelfth were purchased with her money after their marriage on May 24, 1921, but that her husband had the property, including $400 in bank in his possession and threatens to dispose of it. She now has an injunction to prevent her husband from doing so and also an order compelling him to vacate the house which she left when he refused to do so.

Budget Claims Show Increase

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 12.—A total of $15,984,329 in budget requests for the coming biennium has been presented to the State Board of Control by the thirteen hospitals, home and corrective schools included under the State department of institutions, the two State prisons and the veterans' homes. According to an announcement made by the State Board of Control, the total of $15,984,329 is an increase of $1,511,489 over the appropriations of 1921, which totaled $14,472,840. Jerry said Confidence was expressed by members of the board that it would be able to prune the total of the requests to a figure below that of the 1921 appropriations after a check had been made.

McADOO'S SON ARRESTED. SANTA ANA, Cal., Dec. 12.—William Gibbs McAdoo Jr., son of the former secretary of the treasury, was arrested on a speeding charge here yesterday and cited to appear before Justice of the Peace J. E. Cox Wednesday. The motorcycle officer who made the arrest said Young McAdoo drove his car over a dangerous boulevard intersection at the rate of 35 miles an hour.

LAST RITES FOR WOMAN OF 102

BERKELEY, Dec. 12.—Funeral services were conducted today in Modesto for Mrs. Susan Cox Clark, 102 years old, member of a prominent Berkeley family and a pioneer of the state. Mrs. Clark's death occurred at her home, 2437 Le Conte avenue, where she had been failing rapidly for a number of months.

Born in Ohio, Mrs. Clark came to California in 1852, following her husband, who arrived two years earlier. They settled in Tuolumne county where Clark engaged in mining and cattle raising. The couple were friends of Mark Twain, Bret Harte and other famous writers.

Mrs. Clark was active for years in the affairs of the Episcopal church in Berkeley. Surviving Mrs. Clark are two daughters, Mrs. Jennie V. Minor and Miss Lulu Clark, both of Berkeley.

Interment was made in Modesto, Mrs. Clark to be buried beside her husband.

FIRE IN MILITARY SCHOOL

CULVER, Ind. Dec. 12.—Damage estimated at $20,000 was caused by fire which broke out at the Culver Military Academy here yesterday afternoon.

GADSKI CANCELS L. A. CONCERT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—A heated situation growing out of efforts by the American Legion and other patriotic organizations to prevent the appearance here last night of Madame Gaski, Gaski issued a statement declaring she would not appear. Madame Gaski, a Los Angeles singer, is a prominent member of the American Legion and other patriotic organizations. She had been scheduled to appear last night at the Los Angeles Opera House.

When Madame Gaski issued a statement declaring she would not appear, the American Legion and other patriotic organizations were disappointed. They had been hoping to see her perform in Los Angeles.

Niles Y. L. I. Plans Christmas Tree Aid

NILES, Dec. 12.—Under the direction of Mrs. William Moore, the Niles Y. L. I. will have charge of the picture at the Rex theater here Friday in order to raise funds for their Christmas celebration.

On Sunday, December 17, a Christmas tree and program for students in the school and children over the community will be held by the organization. The event will take place either in Connors hall or in the Essany studio here according to later arrangements, it is said. Mrs. Moore has charge of the arrangements for the Christmas tree.

QUALITY TRUNK CO.

A Wardrobe, the Gift of Beauty and Utility

The ideal gift is the one that reflects the good taste of the giver as well as the recipient. More than that, it should spread Christmas cheer throughout the year.

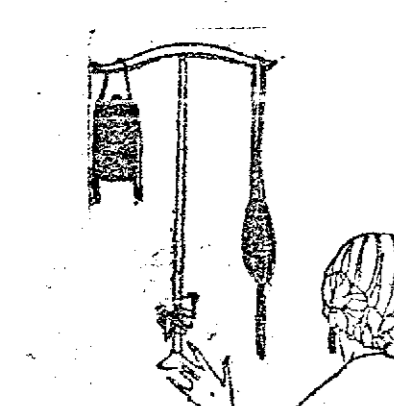

Such a gift is a Hartmann Wardrobe Trunk. All through the year it brings comfort and pleasure to the lucky one who has received it. More than that, its Gibraltarized construction makes it a life-long, as well as a year-round gift.

One of our most popular models has all the convenience features demanded by the most exacting traveler: shoe-box, hat-box, hangers, locking bar, laundry-bag and the cushion top which prevents clothes wrinkling. The price also meets the demands of the exacting. Only..... $39.75

Xmas Special in Ladies' Beauty Boxes and Purses

Our Christmas stock of vanities and purses is more varied and complete than ever. You are sure of finding just what you want for the woman of refinement who demands the very best in style and quality in her bags.

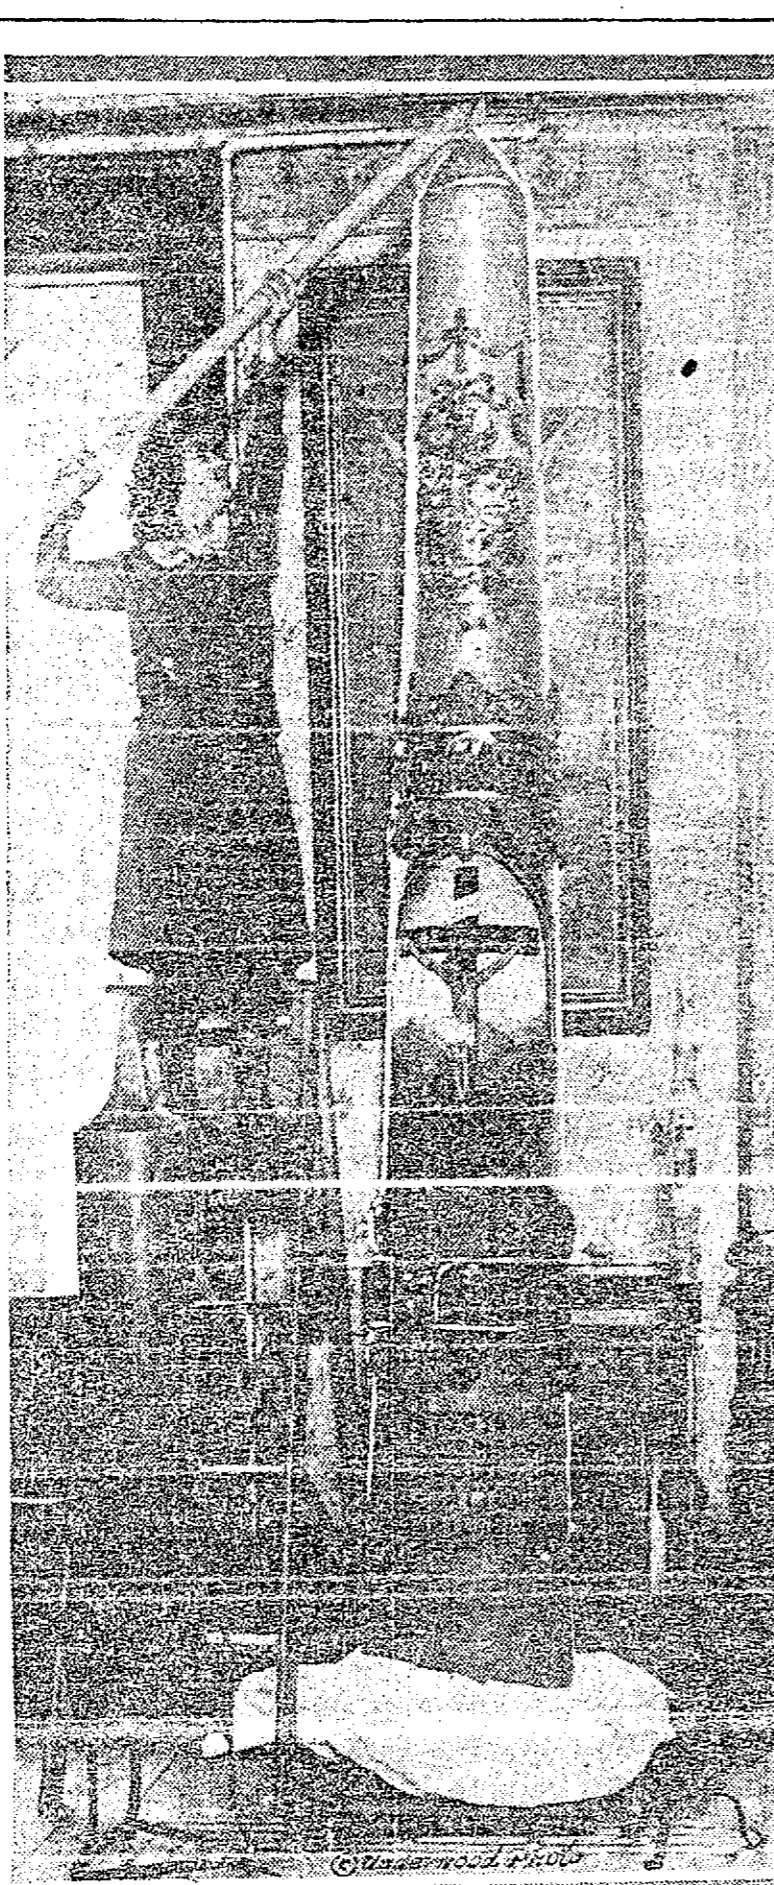

Typical of the low prices, and also of Quality's policy of giving the best in leather goods at these low prices, is our Christmas special in Beauty Boxes. This group has only just been received.

We offer them in the various grains of cowhide, dull and patent, all with dainty fittings and lined in fancy colored silks. $5.95

Will Burn Eighteen Centuries

ANTONIATTA AJELLO lights the Enrico Caruso memorial candle, made by her father, Antonino Ajello, which is to be shipped to Italy. This largest candle in the world weighs one ton, is sixteen feet high and five feet in circumference at the base. It represents the work of five men for four months. The cost was $3,700, and it was made on the order of an orphan asylum to which Enrico Caruso was a generous benefactor. On the suggestion of Cardinal Vanutelli, it will be burned but twenty-four hours a year—on All Souls Day—and is expected to last eighteen centuries. The candle will be placed in the Church of Our Lady of Pompeii, at Pompeii, Italy, the last church in which Caruso worshipped.—Copyright, 1922, by Underwood & Underwood.

RUSSIA BLOCKS AGREEMENT ON NON-AGGRESSION

Limitation of Armaments Is Demanded Before Pact Is Entered.

MOSCOW, Dec. 12.—(By the Associated Press.)—A joint declaration signed by Poland, Latvia, Estonia and Finland, demanding the signing of a non-aggression pact before the technicalities of armament limitation are considered, has resulted in a critical situation in the disarmament conference, according to a statement issued by the foreign office.

The border state delegations look upon this declaration as an ultimatum which may result in the collapse of the conference because Russian officials have let it be known that Russia will not sign a non-aggression pact until an agreement has been reached on limitation of armaments.

After Russia's proposal to cut the armaments twenty-five per cent had been conditionally accepted, a dispute arose between Russia and Poland regarding the strength of the Polish army. Russia contended that Poland's military force, according to figures submitted to the League of Nations last June, numbered 292,000 men and that it should be reduced on this basis to 214,000. Poland held out for an army of 280,000 men in 1923.

In the declaration of the border states it is insisted that the latter figures should be accepted by Russia without discussion and that a commission of experts who would work out a plan for limiting armaments should be appointed after a non-aggression pact has been ratified.

Russia's proposal to fix an equal expenditure per each soldier in the declaration said, "would mean the retaining by Russia of full military power. It would weaken all the other states because Russia now possesses plenty of war supplies which the others are lacking."

In connection with the unofficial announcement that Russia will not sign a non-aggression pact unless an actual armament limitation is effected, officials assert that Russia has no aggressive intentions concerning any of her neighbors and desires to live with them upon peaceful terms.

HORTICULTURAL CHIEFS MEET IN CAPITAL TODAY

Fresno County Commissioner Will Preside At the Convention.

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 12.—Fred P. Rouillard, horticultural commissioner of Fresno county, was elected president of the California County Horticultural Commissioners' association here last night at a meeting preliminary to the fifty-fifth annual convention of California fruit growers and farmers which will open today.

John P. Coy, commissioner of San Bernardino county, was chosen vice-president, and A. H. Call, commissioner of Ventura county, was re-elected secretary.

Speakers at the meeting were G. P. Hecke, director of the state department of public works; J. D. Story, commissioner of public service of Melbourne, Australia, and Lee A. Strong, chief of the state bureau of plant quarantine.

Problems relative to co-operation with nurserymen were discussed between the commissioners and G. K. Grady of San Francisco, secretary of the California Nurserymen's association.

During the afternoon a special meeting of the California Transportation committee was held at which various suggestions were offered. These were turned over to a sub-committee with instructions to report back Wednesday.

Slayer Prevented From Pleading Guilty
MODESTO, Dec. 12.—Declaring that he wanted to plead guilty to second degree murder—that his conscience told him to—Patrick (Daddy) Peters, aged Southern Pacific watchman, nevertheless was prevented from entering such a plea by Judge L. W. Falkner in the Superior Court. The court reminded the prisoner of the seriousness of his action and then appointed Attorneys T. B. Scott and E. T. Taylor Jr. as additional counsel to assist G. B. Seelinghouse, bind attorney, and Coburn Cook, counsel for Peters.

Peters killed William Kell, cattleman, following an argument on the front porch of the Westley hotel two months ago. His trial has been set for December 12.

If you see it in The TRIBUNE tell them so.

Autoist Given Choice Of $500 Fine or Jail

MARTINEZ, Dec. 12.—W. J. Dunn of Concord was given the alternative of paying a fine of $500 by Friday noon or serving one day in jail for each $10 of the fine when he appeared today before Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie for sentence on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated. Rupp pleaded guilty to the charge and asked probation. In his report declared Rupp's character has been exceptionally good. The charge against Rupp was preferred by W. C. Southard following collision of his cars.

American Returns With Regal Bride

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—Edward M. Nye, former war worker, returned to San Francisco yesterday as a general. While in Russia he became General Wrangel's aide. He brought his bride back with him. He introduced her as Princess Catherine of Russia. The first that was heard of the war romance here was when Nye's first wife brought suit for divorce in July, 1921. She was given her divorce when she displayed a picture of her husband and the "Princess" with a long letter.

Accused Woman Sobs at Death Tale

Testimony in the case of Mrs. Emma Harrington, who is facing charges of manslaughter, and driving away in her auto without rendering aid to a victim, caused Mrs. Harrington to weep in Judge O'Brien's court yesterday. A motion for the reduction of bail in Mrs. Harrington's case was being considered. This motion was taken under advisement. The first witness was Frank McGuire, a municipal railway motorman, who saw the accident, which occurred at Eleventh and Market, and which resulted in the death of Frank Hess. The other witness was Policeman Walter Harrington, one of the posse that gave chase and overtook Mrs. Harrington's machine. Mrs. Harrington is said to have driven her car into the safety zone.

Infant Suffocates As Parents Sleep

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—Five-months old Robert Stevens, only child of Claremont Stevens, 5809 Army street, was suffocated to death in his bassinets early today. The mother tucked him in at 10:30.

Surgeons were summoned from St. Luke's hospital and the Mission General Hospital, but nothing could be done to save the boy's life.

FOREIGN WARS VETERANS HOLD OAKLAND RALLY

Many Gold Stripe Men Are Among Participants of Initiation

Gold stripe men from all parts of California gathered here Saturday night to participate in the initiatory ceremonial staged by the Eastbay post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States.

Don B. Scherle, commander of the Department of California and Nevada, and his staff, and Hugh P. Walls of Modesto, past state commander, and a delegation from the San Joaquin valley were guests of honor.

The ceremonial was held in Scioto Hall in the Blake building. The officers of Colonel John Jacob Astor Post, the parent organization in the Eastbay region, opened the services and turned the meeting over to the degree team of Lieutenant Landsdale Post of Sacramento. The capital city veterans came to Oakland on a special train, more than 100 strong, accompanied by the post band under the direction of Sergeant Alexander Olsh, from Mather Field, Sacramento. The initiation work was conducted by C. S. Hogan, commander of the Sacramento post. Following the initiation refreshments were served in Astor Post's meeting place, Memorial hall, City Hall.

The candidates taken into the order were Charles Connelly, E. A. Rogers, G. A. Gilbert, J. Longham, M. O'Brien, M. Serpa, I. M. Shim-Rorsky, W. G. Russell, H. J. Rittman, W. J. Demarse, G. L. DeCamp, D. K. Baird, J. D. Berry, James Rowens, Major Joseph A. Rogers, U. S. A., W. A. Pugett, W. A. Grime, Henry Lorenze, F. E. Washburn, E. Lenhart, L. E. Olson, W. C. Finch, E. W. Brockell, Otto Hase, M. Morgan, E. E. Longmire and R. W. Bowles.

A meeting of the state council of administration of the order was held prior to the initiation ceremonies at which the reports of the state officers for the calendar year were submitted. It was shown by these reports that the Veterans of Foreign Wars in California and Nevada have made a gain of more than 25 per cent in membership in the last twelve months and have extended their organization to practically every section of the state.

One Hunter Drowns, Companion Rescued

When their rowboat overturned, Walter Marks, colored, was drowned yesterday afternoon, and his companion, Robert Berryessa, also colored, was rescued by Walter Thomas, 533 Hadden road. The two men had been duck hunting off the Key Route fill. They had started to return to the shore when the boat capsized. Thomas, hearing their cries for help, swam to their assistance. The two hunters reside at 1024 Third street.

WOMEN BOYCOTT DISTRIBUTORS TO CUT MILK PRICES

4000 Members of Housewives' Leagues Open War Against Increase.

A milk boycott, intended to compel reduction of the price from 13 to 12 cents a quart, was launched today by the 4900 members of the Housewives' leagues of the principal Eastbay cities, according to officers of the leagues.

That one result of the boycott may be the severance of relations between the Eastbay dairymen and the creamerymen of this district and the entry of the dairymen into the distributing business, was intimated by one of the leaders.

The boycott already has cut down the consumption of milk in the Eastbay district by more than 50 per cent, leaders said today, and they asserted that this figure would be increased each day the "strike" continues.

Among the dairy heads in caring for orphaned children in the various Housewives' leagues, including Mrs. H. J. Platts of the Oakland organization, and Mrs. W. T. Cleverdon of Berkeley, urged those responsible for the care of invalids or children not to reduce the amount of milk served to these.

Possibility that dairymen of the Eastbay may go into the distributing business themselves was expressed today in several quarters.

Leaders of the Housewives' organizations declared that such a move would have the united support of the 4900 members of the three Housewives' leagues of the Eastbay.

Preceding the calling of the boycott the Economic section of the League of Women Voters, presided over by Mrs. Roy E. Danford, yesterday listened to a discussion between Mrs. W. T. Cleveland, representing the Housewives' Leagues, and C. A. Fleweger, secretary of the Alameda County Milk

Pleweger declared the dealers could not begin to make a profit unless there was a "spread" of at least 24 cents a gallon between the price paid the producers and the retail selling price.

THREE ACCIDENTS IN SAN FRANCISCO

BLAMED TO RAIN

Five Injured in Auto Crashes in San Francisco Due to Wet Paving.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—One man was probably fatally injured and four other persons were painfully hurt in the three automobile accidents attributed to slippery streets, early today. The injured are:

Edward B. Brown, piano tuner, 38 years old, 2127 Fillmore street, fractured skull, condition critical.

Mrs. May Wells, 69 Hyde street, fractured nose, cut and bruised.

Edward Puig, 761 Post street, cut and bruised.

Benjamin Harrison, 785 Mission street, cut and bruised.

DONALD DASSOTTA, conductor, 25 years old, 235 Bay street, severe lacerations.

Brown was struck at Twenty-second and Valencia streets by a machine driven by Albert Selby, prominent local merchant, whose home is at 1155 Greenwood street.

He took Brown to the Mission Emergency hospital, where his condition was so grave that the physicians determined to perform an immediate operation on his head in an effort to save his life.

Mrs. Wells and Harrison were riding in a machine belonging to Puig, and while proceeding along Fulton street the automobile skidded at Eighth avenue, crashing into a street car.

The windshield was shattered and all of the occupants cut by glass. They were treated at the Park Emergency hospital.

Dassotta, a conductor for the Market Street Railway company, alighted from his car at Twenty-sixth and Mission streets and was Puig at 3467 Mission street.

Postoffice Building Sold for $40,000

RICHMOND, Dec. 12.—The Richmond postoffice building, sold yesterday by Attorney Pierce and Carlson to Mrs. Lillian Prather for $40,000.

Included in the purchase price was the Florence Apartments on Tenth street. At the conclusion of the deal, F. H. Kueffer, representing both parties, bought the Florence Apartments from Pierce and Carlson. The postoffice building was finished this year and leased to the government for a long term. It is located at Ninth and Sixth.

Child Actress to Take Lead in Alameda Elks' Benefit Show

SIX-YEAR-OLD JUNE LOWMAN, and IRMA TIEDEMANN, eight years old, small actresses of Alameda, who will play the lead in the first and second acts of the Elks' charity show.

June Lowman and Irma Tiedemann to Appear in the "Prince Chap" at Palace Theater.

ALAMEDA, Dec. 12.—When the curtain rises on the first act of the "Prince Chap," the annual charity show of the Alameda Elks, small June Lowman will make her initial bow to an Alameda audience as leading woman in the first act.

William Varcoe, coach, is expressing much satisfaction at the manner in which the child reads her lines.

Eight-year-old Irma Tiedemann, who has appeared in many local productions as a dancer, will assume the leading role in the second act. From present indications Varcoe declares the production will surpass any previous benefit staged under the auspices of the Alameda Elks. The show will be held for four consecutive nights, beginning tomorrow night in the Palace theater.

The cast of characters beside the children includes Mrs. P. B. Plummer, Miss Marie Williams, Mrs. Ruby Hannah, R. B. Valleau, L. R. Newman, J. M. Desch, A. A. Hobe, T. A. C. Cooney, R. E. Fagan, Kelly and Harold W. Web.

Sidewalk Will Be Built to Church

RICHMOND, Dec. 12.—A contract was awarded by the city council last night to F. A. Mero for the construction of sidewalks on Forty-fifth street, which was paved the congregation of the St. George Presbyterian church.

$470.29. Recently the St. George church-goers had petitioned the city council to lay sidewalks on Forty-fifth street as in the rainy season it was almost impossible to attend church because of the mud.

POULTRY MEN ELECT

RICHMOND, Dec. 12.—Officers were elected at last night's meeting of the Richmond Poultry Producers' association.

The officers include: J. A. Heck, president; J. T. Gough, vice-president; C. B. Rogers, secretary; C. V. Johnson, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. A. C. Zumwalt, historian; T. R. Elwood, P. D. Nelson and J. H. Bahr, directors. Officers will be installed Tuesday evening, December 26.

LIGHT PETITION REFERRED

RICHMOND, Dec. 12.—The council last evening referred to the light committee for one week the petition of residents of Twelfth and Clinton streets for a street light at the intersection. On recommendation of the light committee a street light was ordered placed at the corner of San Pablo and Esmond avenues.

BOY'S FUNERAL HELD

RICHMOND, Dec. 12.—Funeral services for Edward Edwin Johnson, 9-year-old son of Ray Johnson, who died Saturday at his Oakland home, were held yesterday from local undertaking parlors. The remains were cremated. The father of the deceased was formerly associated with J. I. Collins here in the plumbing business.

BIBLE CLASS OFFICERS

RICHMOND, Dec. 12.—At an all-day session of the Bible church Ladies Bible Class officers for the coming year were elected as follows: Mrs. Ernest Kohlhoff, president; Mrs. C. M. Bunkner, secretary; Mrs. C. W. Cook, treasurer; Mrs. W. W. Blaser, teacher.

WINTERS PAIR LAYS CLAIM TO RECORD IN AGE

and Mrs. Jonah Porter Steward, who up to three years ago were residents of San Jose, claim the record of being the oldest couple residing in Winters. Steward is 84 years old and his wife 80. They were married in Iowa sixty-three years ago and have three daughters, fifteen grandchildren and thirty great grandchildren. Eleven years after their marriage in Iowa the couple started for California, making the trip by private conveyance, were being thirty wagons in the caravan. While camping on the Truckee river in Nevada, one of their three daughters was born and named her "Truckee Nevada Steward." This daughter is a resident now of the Argonaut stock farm in Lake county.

Mr. and Mrs. Steward are still hale and hearty and were guests at their home in Winters at a recent reception in honor of their long married life.

LONDON, Dec. 16.—Arrested for accosting women at Victoria station Rev. Charles Brooke explained that he was waiting for his wife and "got lonesome."

Alameda Prepares For Yuletide Mail

ALAMEDA, Dec. 12.—In an endeavor to assist residents of the city who desire to mail their Christmas parcels, the Alameda post office and substations will remain open every night this week until 8 o'clock, according to an announcement made by H. M. Hammond, postmaster.

It is permissible, the postmaster points out, to mark on the packages "Not to be opened until Christmas." Hammond is urging that parcels be mailed as early as possible to relieve congestion in the local office and also assure prompt delivery.

More Time Given For Subway Work

AUTOIST MAKES CITY PULL CAR OUT OF HOLE

MODESTO, Dec. 12.—Thomas Hallinan of Stockton insisted on his rights and got them at the hands of the City of Modesto. When Hallinan drove his car into a large pile of dirt left by the city on Fourteenth street near G, he refused to pay for help to pull him out, and insisted that the city do it. He pointed out that no warning light had been left at the pile of dirt.

Tommy Street Superintendent Neils Hansen was dispatched to the scene. He attached a truck to Hallinan's car and "snaked" it out. A short time later the same evening a red lantern was placed on top the pile of dirt.

Police Accused of Foiling U. S. Raid

FRESNO, Dec. 12.—Charging that he and three other federal officers were prevented from carrying on government investigations in Fresno Chinatown last May, Herbert S. Keyes, a narcotics agent, testified in the federal court today that the police officers, Keys told the court that he and his brother officers were taken into custody, paraded through Chinatown, taken to the police station and there told to "sit down with the rest of the bums." This occurred, he said, while the federal agents were working on a narcotic case and after they had shown the local officers their badges, identification cards and pictures.

Atwater Board to Get Ground for Cannery

ATWATER, Dec. 12.—At the board of trade meeting it was decided to acquire additional ground for the California Packing corporation, which operates a large packing plant here, and already it can be said the necessary ground is as good as decided, prominent board members say. It is needed to enable the company to increase the size of its plant, and announcement is made that the addition will be ready for next summer.

Nurses of County to Consider Rates

By EDNA B. KINARD.

Schedule of rates will be discussed by members of the Alameda County Nurses Association at an important business session, which will precede the regular December program tomorrow night in the Young Women's Christian Association building. The subject has been seriously considered by leaders outside the formal meetings. Bringing it to the floor of the county group offers recognition to the problems of the professional women.

Dr. Daniel Crosby will be the speaker of the program. He will outline "The Value of a Full-Time Health Officer to the Community."

Nurses of the Alameda County Association have been included in the invitation of the Alameda County Association of Public Health Nurses for a Christmas party which will be given on Friday evening in the Overalls Clubhouse in Berkeley. A delightful Yuletide celebration is arranged.

To celebrate the first Charter Day Anniversary the Pioneer Women of Oakland have planned an elaborate luncheon for Friday, December 15, at the Wigwam hall, Pacific Building.

Old-time pictures of Oakland and photographs of interest will be featured in an interesting exhibit which will be contributed by the pioneers. Each member and guest is being requested to bring an historic print which she may have in her possession. The program of toasts and music will be presented largely by the club members.

Mrs. Sarah J. Farwell, president of the Pioneer Women, Mrs. Emily L. Baker, secretary.

"Little Journeys" which is arranged monthly by the economics section of the Oakland League of Women Voters is scheduled for tomorrow, with a score or more civic workers making the trip to the State Industrial Farm for Women near Colma.

Mrs. E. Danford is chairman of the hostess section and is making arrangements for the tour. The journey will be made by stage and will require the entire day. The invitation for the inspection was extended last week by Miss Blanche More of Berkeley, superintendent of the State Industrial Farm, when she was a guest of the legislative section of the Oakland League.

The institution designed to rehabilitate women who have come under the law and to give them training which will enable them to become self supporting upon their return to society, was created at the demand of the women voters.

of California following the passage of the Redlight Abatement Law. According to Miss Woodward, forty-seven women are now inmates of the farm. They are operating the outdoor work and maintaining the household. Many of the industrial today are open to them.

Oakland women have expressed a desire to familiarize themselves with the work of the institution. Hence the "Little Journeys."

Berkeley League of Women Voters will consider this week the advisability of ruling in favor of a non-member admission fee for the fortnightly programs which are held in City Hall. In the past the discussions have been complimentary to the public. Membership fees have been kept at the low rate of one dollar per annum.

There is a general co-vision upon the part of women in many clubs that those who enjoy the privileges should share to some small extent in the responsibilities. Long ago Oakland League of Women Voters faced this problem and placed a present fifteen-cent fee upon non-members attending the programs.

When the Berkeley League meets on Thursday afternoon, Miss Martha Davis will review "Congressional Items."

"Americanization Experiences" will be related by D. L. Hennessey, director of Americanization Work and of the evening schools in Berkeley.

Nicholas Ricciardi, formerly a member of the Oakland school department and now president of the California Polytechnic School in San Luis Obispo, will be the principal speaker before the Sixth District, California Congress of Mothers, meeting in Salinas, tomorrow.

An all day program is arranged beginning at 10:30 a. m. The Salinas mothers will serve a complimentary luncheon at noon. Mrs. H. K. Pierce, district president, will preside as chairman of the day.

"The Boy, the Job and the State" is the subject announced for Ricciardi's address. Department round tables will be conducted.

Mrs. Phelps Becomes Bride Of Percy Evans

The marriage of Mrs. Edith Phelps, sister of Mrs. Charles Minor Goodall, to Percy Evans of New York, took place on Saturday, and announces a wife today from Gotham.

Mrs. Hal Lardner, formerly of Piedmont, was matron of honor, and Hal Lardner, best man, and the bride being the oldest friends in the East of the California woman, their friendship reverting to their school days.

The bride is the daughter of the late Jeffrey Cullen and Mrs. Eliza Cullen, William Ogden Cullen is a brother.

The family was one of the oldest in Oakland, Jeffrey Cullen coming to the Eastbay in the fifties, a prominent figure in those picturesque days of pioneering.

The bride has won recognition in the East for her accomplishment in art, working with seriousness for several years abroad. She is by consent a great beauty, with hosts of friends at both ends of the continent.

Before the wedding the Lardners, who occupy one of the finest homes in Montclair, entertained for the bride and her future, one of the best known clubmen in New York, and a prominent figure in the commercial world.

Several teas marked today's social calendar, one of the largest, presided over by Mrs. Edward Houghton, being that which Miss Elise Houghton made her formal how to bay society. The at-home was held at the Houghton residence in Benvenue avenue and attended by many score of guests.

Miss Houghton, with her husband, Mr. Frank S. Brush, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the hostess.

An informal reception is to be held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Steinmetz of Modern avenue, Berkeley. Mrs. Steinmetz will be met by a number of her friends.

Best man, Mrs. Steinmetz is a graduate of the San Jose Teachers' College. East is a son of J. E. Best of Vancouver and is associated with a San Francisco bank.

The future home of the couple will be in Berkeley.

Dr. and Mrs. Marshall Cheney, whose marriage took place Saturday in this city, will be at home to their friends after the first of February at their new residence in Farnham avenue.

Dr. Cheney is a graduate of the University of California and of Harvard Medical school, class of 1918. During the period of the war he served in the Massachusetts base hospital. He is now associated in his profession with his uncle Dr. William Fitz Cheney of San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Peters (Mrs. Madeline Ross Clifford) are on their wedding trip and en route to Manila. The holidays they intend to spend in that city and by the way, with Australia, their first stop, thence to South Africa, over to Europe and on to the United States. The Peters-Clifford wedding took place on the island of Hawaii in the old Ross plantation, in November.

BETROTHAL IS ANNOUNCED. Mrs. Corinne Corbett received in the morning today told of the engagement of Miss Rebecca Wilson Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Gray, of Piedmont, and Beach Soule Jr., son of Beach Soule, of San Francisco. Miss Gray is a sister of Miss Alice Gray, who is to wed Sydney E. Frazer, of South America.

Both Miss Gray and her fiancé are juniors at the University of California. The bride-elect is a Phi Beta Kappa and Soule is a Zeta Psi fraternity man.

Soule is a grandson of Mrs. Ella Bacon Soule, of Monte Vista avenue.

Mrs. James Dunn of Alameda was hostess this afternoon at her home in Central avenue, Alameda, the affair being an informal luncheon and bridge.

Cards are out for a luncheon which Miss Kitty Bell Long will give the afternoon of December 21 at the Woman's Athletic Club of San Francisco. Places will be set for twenty-five guests, a matinee to follow the luncheon.

LAST PERFORMANCE FOR CHARITY. Mrs. Walter Leimert, (Lucille Cavanaugh) whose dancing was a feature of the last performance of 1922 given for the charity, will appear this night in "Flappers, Flappers and Flappers" given by the Junior League of San Francisco.

One of the most beautiful numbers was the finale sung by Miss Elizabeth Mares with a chorus. It was a "Marsovian" number with bright-hued costumes, Miss Mares appearing in Russian costume.

The musicale was presented at the Plaza theater with Mrs. Horace Van Sicken rendering the prologue that evening, followed by the "Flapper Chorus" led by Jane Carrigan and Henry Trumbull.

There was a beautiful fashion scene, the farmerettes, the Quakers, bathing beauties, and a pony dance, only a few of the features of the evening. The final performance will be this evening.

MISS MACAULAY TO GIVE RECITAL. Miss Macaulay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Macaulay, of Spruce street, will appear in recital at the Piano Club, 2724 Haste street, Berkeley, Friday evening. The musical event is of interest to a large circle of friends. For some years Miss Macaulay has studied with Mabel Hill Redfield and since graduating from Miss Head's school has devoted her time to the study of music.

Miss Helen Chakurian, violiniste, is a junior at Mills College, and the accompanist will be Mrs. Mabel Burton Hoyt.

More than two hundred invitations have been extended for the evening.

BARONESS OPENS NEW SCHOOL FOR TOKYO SERVANTS

Sister-in-Law of Emperor Takes Up Night Work Begin With Her Money.

TOKYO, Dec. 12.—Baroness Takeko Kujō, a prominent poetess, has planned the establishment of a night school for servants where she will act as principal. The Japanese language, sewing, music and sanitation will be the subjects of study. She is issuing a new volume of verse in support of her organization. Baroness Kujō is the only daughter of the late Count Orai, Lord Abbott of the West Honganji of Kyoto. Her husband is the brother of the present Empress.

The Baroness' life romance is well known in Japan. Soon after her marriage and honeymoon trip to England, the Baroness returned alone to Japan and it was during the ten years of separation from her husband that she wrote the poems of the "Golden Bell."

Baron Kujō returned a year ago and the couple were reunited. However, the Baroness is now living in the Hongwanji temple at Tsukiji and is busy with her new philanthropic work.

Fight Starts on Millionaire's Will

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—Split has been started by Mrs. Amy Wood Wilson, adopted daughter of E. K. Wood, lumber millionaire, for a one-third interest in the estate. The estate is valued at $1,500,000. The action was brought in the superior court at San Rafael. Mrs. Wilson said Wood had adopted her in Stanton, Mich., in 1875.

Lewis Edward East of San Francisco, Frank S. Brush, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, was the hostess.

An informal reception is to be held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Steinmetz of Modern avenue, Berkeley. Mrs. Steinmetz will be met by a number of her friends.

CUNO CABINET TOTTERING.

The break between Hugo Stinnes and Wilhelm Cuno, Chancellor of Germany, means the fall of the Cuno cabinet. Behind Stinnes is the "People's Party," upon which Cuno could depend for a bare majority in case of a break with the Socialists. In any event the position of the chancellor was precarious.

For the sake of peace and with a hope to accelerate rehabilitation the Socialists agreed to forget certain vital differences and pledged a temporary support to Cuno, who had, also, the support of Stinnes and the "People's Party." It was a peculiar combination and one destined to short life, for Stinnes is the greatest money power in Germany, and it was too much to expect one chancellor to serve him and the Socialists.

Signs of a break with the Socialists have been apparent for some time. The "Left" has already deserted the chancellor. Now Stinnes has withdrawn and it is to be presumed, he will take with him the strength of the party he heads. Unless this disagreement is patched up there will be another chancellor in Germany before the month is out.

The new German crisis is timed with the breaking up of the plans for a financial conference of the allied premier at Brussels and it was the Cuno proposal for debt settlement which caused his break with Stinnes. The perplexing international question which has dragged through nearly a dozen futile conferences, has thrown the Near East into war, and has overturned cabinets in not through playing Lafayette with men and governments.

HAMLET A MUSICAL COMEDY.

Sticklers for technicality may purchase tickets for "Hamlet" in New York in the expectation of seeing a musical comedy. They may even picture the melancholy Dane delivering his soliloquy in front of a double row of swaying chorus girls and look for rare and humorous moments to develop in that war of noble houses. Behind the curtain, perhaps, will be a rubber sword and in the role of Ophelia, Charlotte Greenwood, or another of the comediennes of antics and angles. Technically "Hamlet," or at least the leading production of the tragedy in New York, is a musical comedy and there is no one who can dispute it.

A musical comedy, be it known, is not necessarily a comedy. It may be a tragedy, or a farce, or a melodrama, or a musical comedy.
Any performance for which the men in the orchestra are required to play at least forty-five minutes. The score was kept on Hamlet, which opened as a tragedy to sound strains from the wood instruments. As a tragedy it continued until the forty five minutes were up and it then became a musical comedy.

It is all down in the books, in the regulations and agreements for anyone to read who may.
Hamlet is a musical comedy.

PHOTOSYNTHESIS.

Scientists say the great contribution of the nineteenth century was the establishment of the doctrine of energy. They are looking toward the twentieth century to solve the problem of making use of the main source of energy, the radiations of the sun. When this is done, it is predicted, a world will be made over economically and industrially.

During the week after Christmas the American Association for the Advancement of Science will meet in Boston in an attempt to learn the important details as to how plants use the energy sent daily to the earth by the sun and to try to devise means of using that energy more efficiently than the plants have been able to use it. Characteristic of the men of science, they do not describe their purposes so simply,
we say, instead, they will discuss "Photosyn-thesis and the Possible Use of Solar Energy."

A little heat may be given to the surface of the earth from the interior and there is a small amount from radio active chemical changes.

the action of tides and from the moon and stars, but the main source of energy is from the sun.

H. A. Spoehr, of the Ciastal Laboratory, residence of Carmel, has defined photosynthesis in the Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry as follows:

So far as the composition of food material is concerned, there exists a closed cycle. Man feeds on animals, and animals on plants; the plants feed on the carbon dioxide given to the air by the animals as a result of the latter's use of food. Thus the plant reconverts the waste products of animal metabolism into food. The latter process is called photosynthesis. The plant absorbs through its leaves the carbon dioxide which is universally present in the atmosphere, and which is formed by the burning of coal, fuel, oil, etc., and is also exhaled by animals. By means of the light from the sun the carbon dioxide thus absorbed by the leaves is changed into material such as sugar or wood, which can again be used as food for animals or as fuel.
The net result, as far as the changes of materials are concerned in this integration of plants and animals, is that a plant yields a certain amount of substance which can be used as food for man and thus enables him to do some work.
Thereby the food material is turned into the body of the animal, and the fuel is burned and the products of combustion escape into the atmosphere.

That, then, is the subject upon which the leading scientists will concentrate their attention at the Boston meeting this month. It is a ripe one for general speculation as to the changes which will come to the world when the sun may be harnessed for the work of man.

SMALL COGS?

A light in the living room flickers and a warm and comfortable man looks up from his book in one brief second of irritation. Pure water comes from the hydrant and no one gives it a thought.

Up in the hills where the wind is blowing forty miles an hour and carrying with it a whip and slap a wet snow, men who have ice in their beards and on their clothes are guarding the power lines. Often they take their lives in their hands to repair the damage done by the storm. Sometimes a light flickers, more often it does not. It is all a part of the work.

In the hills back of Oakland, in the rain and the fog, the chill and the heat a man rides the range of the watersheds to see the source is kept free from pollution. Another lonely job passed unnoted by those who are benefited.
It is all in the day's work.

There is no industry of size which is not dependent, in some of its ramifications, upon men and women who labor unseen and unsung to provide continuous and the efficient service.
The man in the hills may not carry the thought in mind always that cities depend upon him for light, heat and power. He may even consider himself a small cog in a great machine, and just so, the man who rides the watershed.

Yet, without the small cog, of what use would be the whole?

CALIFORNIA WINS AGAIN.

Livestock men the world over know of the honors attached to winning first prize at the International Live Stock Show in Chicago. California, through the Agricultural College at Davis, is in the habit of winning such prizes.

With the keenest sort of competition the University exhibit in Chicago now has made the strongest showing in a history marked with victories. The "hero" role in this contest reads: California Topman, Shorthorn Angus-steer, first prize, and champion; Southdown wether lambs, first and second; Shropshire wether lambs, first and second; Crossbred wether lambs, first; another Southdown wether, in another class, first and champion;
Poland China barrows, first and champion.
Follows a long list of seconds and thirds.

The livestock judging team from the college at Davis won first prize in a recent competition in the Northwest and the college ran away with most of the prizes at the show at Portland. This is a record, one of sheep, pigs, and cows, and one of which the state may be proud.
It demonstrates what is being done at the Agricultural College toward the raising of the standard of livestock in California and toward the education of men who will embark in the stock business. By achievement the college is making its bid for recognition.

A practice that may take a little of the sentimentality out of the New York idea of swapping presents. There may be instances where Christmas beneficiaries regard their gifts with derision instead of pleasure, but this need not take the pleasure out of Christmas giving.
Any innovation that tends to destroy the hallowed traditions of the glad time certainly will not increase the enjoyment.

Assemblyman McPherson's idea of a dam across Carquinez Straits is not new, and the project would be vast, but it is not impossible.
It would solve a vexing question by keeping back tide encroachment, thus making of Suisun bay a great fresh water lake. In this day when water questions are of increasing importance in California it is not impossible that this mighty project may be taken up.

In his message President Harding says the consolidation of railroad lines will aid in the establishment of lower rates. But a few days ago Secretary Hoover said the same thing in other words. In these two statements there may be an indication as to how a certain un-merger hearing in Washington will result.
Unmerger is the opposite of consolidation.

KEEP AT IT
If you really want to win,
Keep at it!
When a task you once begin,
Keep at it!
It may be a long road,
But some day you'll find the way,
Keep at it!

KEEP AT IT
If you've started for a goal,
Keep at it!
With your heart and mind and soul,
Keep at it!
Make mistakes, as people must,
But get up and make the dust
From your garments, and then just Keep at it!

KEEP AT IT
When you've learned where you are weak,
Keep at it!
You can win the joy you seek,
Keep at it!
Study, practice, think and plan,
Make yourself a better man,
If another can, you can—
Keep at it!

KEEP AT IT
Even though you fail today,
Keep at it!
Never throw your dream away,
Keep at it!
Let the thoughtless laugh and jeer,
Then pretend you do not hear,
When you're conquered, they will cheer—
Keep at it!

KEEP AT IT
Keep at it, day and night;
Keep at it!
If you'd paint, or sing, or write,
Keep at it!
Hold the goal you crave in view,
In the path that leads to it,
By and by you'll win, if you
Keep at it!

THEY SOUND ALIKE.
Old Smith was busy in his back yard with a saw and hatchet while his wife nursed a bad cold in the house, when a neighbor came to the fence.
"Good morning" Mr. Smith," he said. "How is Mrs. Smith this morning?"
"Just about the same," old Smith replied. "She didn't sleep very well last night."
"That's too bad," the neighbor sympathized; and then, as a raucous sound came from the house, he added soliloquially: "I s'pose that's her coughin', ain't it?"
"No," old Smith answered absurdly, "it ain't her cough; it's a new household."—The Ladies' Home Journal.

On top of the escape of Clara
Phillips from the Los Angeles County Jail comes a story by Madalynne Obenchain that she once walked out of the same jail and was gone for three-quarters of an hour, because she "wanted
some fresh air."—Sacramento Bee.

The oldest Mason in California,
William B. Brown, of Berkeley, aged 97, who, by the way, accompanied Ahmets Temple of Shriners to Stockton last summer to greet the caravan, says if you want to be hale and hearty at that age eat bacon and corn bread and work hard in the open air in youth. The first doesn't sound hard to take.
Corn bread demands open air exercise. But why not make it golf?

THE FORUM
The staff of the TRIBUNE declines responsibility for opinions and statements expressed in this column. Brief contributions on current topics of general interest are welcome. They will not be printed unless accompanied by the name of the contributor.

To the Editor of the Tribune:
There has been a lot said in the papers in regard to the cost of milk in the Bay Area cities. When as a matter of fact, until the recent milk war, we had the cheapest milk of any large city in the state. Los Angeles has paid from 14 to 16 cents a quart over since the world war.
For three months we have had our milk for 10 cents a quart, but at an enormous loss to the distributors. Knowing this, you speak of making the milk business a public utility. Why good would this do the working people? Since the city of Berkeley has charge of the garbage, it cost us 5 cents more per month, than when collected by private parties, and not as good service as before.
You say if the milk business were a public utility the men would have to work full time instead of one or two hours a day. Have you spent 24 hours (one day) in any of the large creameries? So you may know these men work in drafts, wet and cold, giving up their Sundays and holidays, getting up at all hours in the night to go to work.
Now that the distributors refuse to cut the price of milk under existing conditions, you call for a meeting with the workers.
Your object being for them to work for a less salary than they are now getting. Could you live on a salary that has been suggested by some of your members? You know full well you could not and keep soul and body together. If the men are cut to any less than they are, there will be many more subjects for the charities to care for.
Now for a few questions. Why all the fuss over fresh and wholesome milk when you don't ask what has made the price of sugar, flour, canned milk, meats and other foodstuffs go up? What about the sky-high rents and a hundred and one other things? There are a few ways to bring prices down. They are, 1st, have all housewives rich and poor,
to go and do their own shopping and carry their purchases home; 2nd, to remember they need an extra quart of cream or a pint more of milk, in time for the regular driver to bring it, instead of phoning for a special to bring it. That special driver cost the companies an extra $165 per month; 3rd, to see that all milk bottles are cleaned and returned to the owners, instead of in the backyards, vacant lots, basements and garbage cans.
More than five years ago the inside men were getting $2 per day, and drivers considerable more, on account of them being organized.
The rents, food supplies and all things were cheaper, yet the milk was then selling at 12 cents per quart.
The best way to see things from another man's viewpoint, is to put yourself in his place. I, being a creamery worker's wife can tell things as they are. I would gladly welcome any of you to my home, so you may see if we need to be taught how to save.
Perhaps you would learn a side to life you have never thought of.
We are self-respecting, law-abiding citizens, trying to rear our children in the fear of God, and to teach them to respect all men as they would like to be treated.
We Americans want to see all the children in our land sent to school and be given a chance in life.
If we are ground down to sweatshop wages we cannot do this.
If those families who have those little children that need milk and can't have it at 13 cents per quart, did cut the movie one night per week, they would have the price of the milk and still see all the good plays and have more money for home pleasures. SUBSCRIBER.

RAIN HITS
ALL PARTS OF STATE

68-Mile Gale Drives Cold Wave Over Midwest, Mountain Areas; Thermometer
At Miles City 27 Below

Following last night's tremendous downpour, which has been general throughout the state, even penetrating south of the Tehachapi, continuation of the rains is predicted for today and tomorrow by the United States Weather Bureau.
A severe storm at sea is held responsible for the heavy rains, which have thoroughly wetted the great interior valleys of the state.
California would seem to have been particularly favored, since no rain is reported in Oregon and Washington, and only a small downfall in Nevada.

The rainfall in Oakland and vicinity as measured at Chabot, was
.99 of an inch for the past 24 hours at 7 o'clock this morning.
The season's fall to date is 9.97; normal being 5.58, and last year's rainfall at this date having been

SANTA ROSA FALL HEAVY.

The heaviest report of precipitation for yesterday and last night comes from Santa Rosa, which received 1.30.

The weather bureau states that a cold wave, which had its origin in British Columbia and Calgary, having already rolled farther southward than any other cold wave has traveled in recent years, now threatens Northern California.
The forecast mentions snow for southwestern Oregon and southern Nevada.

The following precipitation is reported for other points: San Francisco, 1.10; Stockton, .25; Sacramento, .72; Red Bluff, .22; Eureka, .20; Point Reyes, .41; Colusa,
.32; Chico, .49.

CAUSES EARTHSLIDES.

Three small slides of earth on the Tunnel road and a few gutterfloods in the vicinity of Eighty-fourth avenue were the largest items of damage done to the city's streets by last night's storm, according to reports from all parts of the city to City Engineer W. W.
Harmon.

The slides on the Tunnel road, according to Harmon, merely hid a little extra dirt on the road and in no way impeded traffic. Showers cleared the road by noon.

Far East Oakland, according to the report, was the only section where the sewers could not carry away the flow of water. Several impressive looking lakes were discovered along Eightieth avenue and the other eighties, up to about Ninetieth avenue. This district, according to the officials, is where the much-discussed Melrose storm sewer is not yet, and a heavy rain always results in floods. Melrose trains were tied up in the early morning.

COLD WAVE IN MIDWEST.

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—A high wind brought the first severely cold weather to the states of the middle west today while the northwest for the second time this winter was in the grip of sub-zero temperatures. Cold wave warnings were issued for the Ohio and Mississippi valleys and forecasters predicted the cold weather in the northwest would spread eastward today, preceded, however, by rising temperatures.

The coldest weather recorded this winter prevailed in the northern part of the Rocky Mountain region. Throughout the cold wave section reports indicated a high wind made the cold more intense.

WARNINGS ISSUED.

forecasters announced, heralded

Record Attendance in Prison
Since Coming of Prohi-

Responsible For Influx

For the first time since prohibition, the Oakland city prison has been taxed to capacity with drunk cases. At 3 a. m. today there were 101 prisoners booked for intoxication. All available space was occupied.

Sergeant Martin Riley was informed that there was no more room in the jail. The "standing room only" sign was up for those who were able to stand.

He told the jailer to release five of the most sober of the "drunks" who could furnish $5 bail.

This was the first time in the history of the Oakland city prison that a man booked for intoxication was released at 3 a. m. Generally they are kept until 6 o'clock to sober up.

Sergeant Riley said there seems to be a prevalence of colds and that he believes most of the prisoners were drinking corn whiskey to cure them.

The five most sober prisoners who were released to make room for others went away singing the new song of freedom, "Three o'clock in the Morning."

Church to Conduct
Three-Day Bazaar

ALAMEDA, Dec. 12.—Women of the First Christian church in this city are to hold an annual bazaar for three days beginning Thursday, December 14, according to an announcement made today.

The bazaar will be held in the store building at the corner of Park street and Central avenue, and be in charge of a committee composed of Mrs. E. Martin, Mrs.
Albert Newman, Mrs. Charles Walker, Mrs. Mary Barnes and Mrs. E.
C. Elliott.

souri, Kansas and Oklahoma, giving these states their first real winter. The mercury was expected to reach ten above early today and continue its downward progress until near zero tonight.

Cold wave warnings have been issued for Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Western Pennsylvania, eastern and northern New York, western Tennessee and extreme northern Mississippi. Cold weather was predicted also for Colorado and western Texas accompanied by snow. A drop in the mercury was announced for parts of Utah, Arizona and New Mexico.

In Chicago, a high wind made the cold more apparent. Beginning last night the thermometer dropped until early this morning it reached 15 degrees above zero.
Illinois weather, generally forecast as colder, was expected to play an important part in the voting on a proposed new constitution for the state.

Calcutta, Minn., reported zero temperature and a blizzard with a 58 miles an hour wind driving on Lake Superior.

Miles City, Montana, was the coldest point reported last night, the temperature there being 27 below zero. Temperatures of other Montana points were: Billings, 25 below; Helena, 21 below; Lewistown, 22 below; Bozeman, 17 below; and Missoula, 20 below.
Temperatures of from 12 to 16 below were reported in Wyoming.

Snow was forecast today for Colorado and western Texas with a severe cold wave. Zero temperatures were predicted for Colorado and colder weather also was expected in parts of Utah, Arizona and New Mexico.

MAN GAMBLED, WIFE CLAIMS

Habitually a gambler, shiftless and unreliable in business, it is charged, Richard E. Dare induced his wife to borrow $145 on the representation he had secured a good position and then took the money and went to Reno where he lost it in gambling, declares Mrs. Cordelia Dare in a complaint filed today.

Mrs. Dare says she borrowed the money from her younger brother who had difficulty in getting it and that to date Dare has been unable to repay. The loan was obtained last January, it is claimed.

Declaring they were married in San Francisco, April 18, 1918 and separated on January 9 when Dare went to Reno, she claims custody of Keith, aged 2, and the community property consisting of the home on Lewis avenue near Hopkins street.

Husband Rides On Hearse at Wife's Funeral

BERKELEY, Dec. 12.—Directions given prior to her death by Mrs. Freda Thiel, a former resident of Berkeley, who died aboard a steamer en route from Guatemala to this city were strictly observed today by her husband and daughter, when the remains were taken to a Berkeley cemetery.

According to the directions Mrs. Thiel's husband, Louis Thiel, was to ride on the hearse as the only mourner, and no other relatives were to attend, nor was there to be any funeral service.

Mrs. Thiel was 55 and a native of Germany. Her husband is in business in Guatemala.

COLBOURN RAPS CRIME IN YOUTH

Asserting that "the weak spots in our race are the delinquencies of youth," Commissioner Frank Colbourn, head of the department of public health and safety, last night pleaded before the Mothers' Club and Fathers' Association of Washington school to the effect that the "old home ideas and the betterment of the school are the best means for preventing juvenile crime."

"Most crimes," said Colbourn, "are committed by those under the age of 21, and most of the people committing crimes are the victims of their environment."

"Our best and greatest friends," he said, "are the ones who must build the future American nation. We must give them advantages even to a degree to ourselves."

"The original plan upon which this nation is founded cannot be improved upon, and it would be well for us not to forget it, or be astray by new-fangled government ideas. We are owed a fortune by the people, and if we only will remember that selfishness must not be carried to such a degree that we will weaken our own land, we will not only retain what we have but will expand into greater things."

Actress to Wed

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—Ora Carew, film star, will marry millionaire salad dressing manufacturer of Haverhill, Mass., it was announced today. The license was taken out last evening. There were many wealthy rivals for Miss Carew's hand, and it was not known until a few days ago by her friends who the lucky one was.

ISLAND TO CLOSE IN JULY, IS PLAN

Further word was received here today from Washington concerning the proposed transfer of the naval training station from Goat Island to San Diego.

It was stated at the war department that the transfer is waiting for the completion of the waterfront itself and of buildings located on the waterfront.

To provide for the completion of this work an appropriation of $200,000 is to be asked in the next appropriation bill.

According to present indications the transfer which was to have been made some months ago will be made in July of next year.

The San Diego station will house 1300 sailors and apprentices it was stated today. More than $1,750,000 already has been spent on the project.

S.F. Man to Represent States in Rate Case

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—C. H. Wardman of the state department of the Railroad Commission has been elected to represent the state commission and sit with the examiners of the Interstate Commerce Commission in a forthcoming nationwide hearing of express rates. He was chosen by the National Association of Railway and Utility commissioners meeting in Detroit.

This is the first case of nationwide importance in which a definite plan of representation has been worked out between the Interstate Commerce Commission and the state commissions. Hearings will be held in different parts of the country, including San Francisco, Atlanta, Dallas, Phoenix, Tacoma, Helena, Omaha and Chicago.

UNION PACIFIC HEAD TELLS AIMS IN RAILWAY CASE

President Gray Is Called As Witness in Merger Hearing.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Carl R. Gray, president of the Union Pacific system yesterday testified before the Interstate Commerce Commission in opposition to the Southern Pacific's application to retain control of the Central Pacific railway lines.

"Our passenger and freight trains make better time than they do on the Southern Pacific," said Gray.

"The Union Pacific is required to help the Southern Pacific make through schedules by accepting a faster running time because the Union Pacific is improving its railroad by installing a second track and reducing its controlling grades. In fact most of the comparisons of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific operating performance favor the Union Pacific."

UNION PACIFIC CLAIM

"The Union Pacific is not primarily not interested in assuming a desire to extend its ownership in Central and Northern California."

"Our contention is, said Gray, that we are entitled to a connection on the part of the Central Pacific railway which will work with us wholeheartedly and which has no conflicting interests on account of an additional route through other gateways."

"It is admitted that the long association of the Central Pacific and Southern Pacific in Central California has produced a community of interests which must have consideration."

"The shipping and travelling public should not suffer as a result of conditions for which it is not in any way responsible, nor should there be any increase in rates over the basis which has been applied heretofore. Neither should it be applied of any essential service."

SUPREME COURT PLAN

"The Supreme Court clearly recognized the possibility of these difficulties and expressly provided that there should be an accommodation of such matters."

"There is ample precedent for the joint use of lines and such joint use is conventional throughout the country. Any of the various joint track arrangements could be used in the final disposition of particular parts of the problem and could be negotiated so as to insure the practical compliance with any detail of the court decree, which would unquestionably have as its basis the public interest."

By JAMES T. KOLBERT
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—"Character witnesses were called to the stand today by Fred H. Wood, Southern Pacific counsel, as hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission on the Southern Pacific-Central Pacific system separation case neared conclusion."

The testimony of these men was designed to show the part the Southern Pacific has played in the development of the southwest and of the necessity for maintaining the unity of the two systems.

The first of these witnesses was W. J. Dwyer of the Sacramento Navigation company. Dwyer, who holds extensive farm properties in California, testified that the prosperity of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys is in a large measure due to the Southern Pacific. He stated that the Southern Pacific had entered the region while it was still undeveloped and at first a year before reclamation work was begun.

Today's hearing was opened with the cross examination of Southern Pacific railroad witnesses, all of whom testified to the fact that the earlier has been soliciting business over the Ogden route.

Counsel Wood advised the commissioners that while he had a number of such "character witnesses" in the case of speeding the hearings to the close, he would call no more and would conclude his case with the examination of a few witnesses of a different character, of whom Dwyer was the first.

Wife Accuses Man Of Operating Still

While she was sick John B. Creitz, a carpenter, operated a still and sold saws in the house, avers Mrs. Charlotte T. Creitz, 1718 Carlton street, Berkeley. She declares that her husband is guilty of drinking to excess and that his treatment of her caused a nervous collapse necessitating treatment by three physicians.

Besides neglecting to provide for money to get her teeth treated, causing her to go to work if she needed money, called her a "thief" and a "liar," accused her of stealing money from his pockets, and prohibited her from attending her mother while she was on her death bed, the wife declares. She asks for a settlement of community property including money in the bank, $100 a month alimony and a court order ousting him from the home.

Oakland Firm Sells Warships Ice Cream

A contract to supply war vessels anchored in San Francisco bay and also the Naval Training Station at Goat Island has been obtained by E. J. Miller, general manager of the Miller Ice Cream company of this city. A temporary wharf has been established at the foot of Seventh street where a small supply boat calls. The contract supply is for about 2000 individual bricks on each order.

Oakland wholesale firms will be enabled to bid on naval supplies with the establishment of the local wharf.

Two Veteran Bodies To Elect Officers

ALAMEDA, Dec. 12.—Both Barrett Camp No. 29, Spanish War Veterans and Alameda Post No. 9, American Legion, will elect officers tonight.

The Barrett Camp will meet in Eagles hall while Alameda Post will meet at the Regatta Club, Pacific street. Members of both organizations are urged to be in attendance.

CO-ED PREFERS U. C. DANCE JOB TO FUM FAME

BERKELEY, Dec. 12.—Being a dance director at the University of California means more to Anita Avila, talented senior student, than all the fame which can be won via the movies.

For Miss Avila, the daughter of a Fresno capitalist, has chosen to remain in the university to supervise the dances for the annual masque.

The first reading of the Parthenon manuscript will be given after the opening of the college semester in Whitaker hall by Irving Pichel, former assistant director of the Greek theater.

WASHINGTON NOTES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—The ship subsidy bill will be dropped by the Senate in favor of farm relief legislation today, it was announced by Democratic leaders and Republican insurgents claimed today. A poll of the upper house conducted by the insurgents shows fifty votes favorable to displacing the shipping measure with farm credit legislation, it was maintained.

Secretary Wallace has completed his reply to the Senate resolution asking for information about the proposed merger of the Armour and Morris packing interests, and will send it to the capitol soon. It is expected that he will announce publicly the attitude of the administration toward the merger proposal, submitted to him for an opinion by J. Ogden Armour.

Proponents of various farm credit bills appeared today before the Senate banking committee at the opening of hearings on credit legislation. Senator Capper (Rep., Kansas), chairman of the Senate farm bloc, opened the hearing with an explanation of his bill to widen the credit facilities of livestock growers by authorizing co-operative livestock loan associations. He was followed by Senator Lenroot (Rep., Wisconsin), a member of the joint congressional committee, who outlined the Senate bill containing provisions endorsed by administration officials.

The governor's conference on prohibition to be called by President Harding, as indicated in his message to congress last week, will be held some time in January, it was said today at the White House. Children of aliens would be granted citizenship upon the naturalization of either parent, under a bill introduced today by Representative Cable, Republican, Ohio. While the Senate banking committee was discussing the proposals of various rural credit bills today the Senate agriculture committee was told by Harry N. Owen, editor of a Minnesota farm paper, that legislation to stabilize farm product prices must be enacted, as well as a credit bill, if adequate relief is to be furnished the farmers.

The appropriation of $5,000,000 carried in the treasury supply bill for the enforcement of prohibition during the next fiscal year was declared by Senator Broward, Democrat, Louisiana, in a speech in the Senate today. He declared it was "equivalent to making the dry law effective, even among government officials and among those who forced the step-by-step amendment and the Volstead law upon us."

The Senate this afternoon voted 51 to 9 to retain the office of under secretary of the treasury.

Adelphian Club to Hold Artist Concert
ALAMEDA, Dec. 12.—Arrangements for having completed for the Adelphian Artist Series which will be given under the auspices of the Adelphian club and will afford residents of the city an opportunity of hearing well-known musicians for a nominal cost.

The concerts as scheduled will be held on the following dates: Tuesday night, January 30; Tuesday night, February 27; and Tuesday night, April 24. Tickets for the series may be obtained from Mrs. John Henry Merrill, 1329 Caroline street, or Mrs. Wallace Meracie, 2244 Clinton avenue, as announced by those in charge.

52 ARRESTS, $445 FINES.
RICHMOND, Dec. 12.—Because of the inclement weather last evening, the city police had a busy brief session. The report of Police Judge C. A. Odell showed that during the past month $445 had been collected in fines, and 52 cases had been handled.

The report of the city tax collector showed taxes and licenses to the sum of $194,026.73 had been collected.

Famous Old Recipe for Cough Syrup

Easily and cheaply made at home. But it treats them all for coughs.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparations, by using this well-known old recipe for making cough syrup. It is simple and cheap but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any drugstore, pour it into a pint bottle, and add plain granulated sugar syrup to make a full pint. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, and lasts a family a long time.

It's truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat and lungs—loosens and raises the phlegm, soothes and heals the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat tickle and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract known the world over for its healing effect on membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded. ISSUES VEXING EUROPE CAUSE WORRY TO U. S.

Poincare Calls Cabinet Meeting to Discuss Results of London Parley.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—(By Associated Press)—It was said at the White House today that while all official comment would be withheld for the present, it could not be denied that the Washington government regarded the reparations difficulties, brought to a head by the premier's council in London, as one of the most acute problems now vexing Europe.

There was no attempt to disguise the concern of the United States in the apparent lack of promise of an adjustment of allied views as to Germany. That concern, it was indicated, extended to other European questions as well and in all of these matters, it was added, the Washington administration has not been inactive.

By FRANK E. MASON,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, Dec. 12.—Premier Poincare arrived from London this afternoon and immediately summoned a cabinet council to discuss the results of the London conference. The cabinet meeting will be held Wednesday.

Supporters of Premier Poincare are hopeful that the respite until January 2, when the premiers will meet again, can be successfully utilized to swing the other allies to the French viewpoint.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—(By International News Service).—Premier A. Bonar Law informed the house of Commons this afternoon that he told the allied premiers' conference Great Britain would reduce her debt claims if the allies "failed to receive full reparations from Germany."

This was the first official announcement that Britain has modified the Balfour note.

CURTAIN FALLS UPON TIERNAN'S FAMILY DRAMA
SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 12.—The curtain was rung down on the Tiernan family drama in South Bend today.
An order of dismissal of the divorce suit filed by Professor John P. Tiernan against "Gussie" Tiernan was issued by Judge C. R. Montgomery. The divorce was once granted, but later revoked, after Tiernan had married Mrs. Blanche Brimmer of Iowa.

BREWSTER RICHES BROUGHT ONLY WOE, WIFE SAYS

Claims She Was Wife in Name Only; Prince Beauty Called Real Mate.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—How Eugene Brewster, millionaire New York publisher, told Mrs. Brewster, the daughter of the late Thomas V. Cator, San Francisco attorney, and sister of Thomas V. Cator Jr., Carmel playwright, poet and composer, that she was to be his wife "in name only," and that Corliss Palmer, prize winning beauty, was to be his constant companion, was disclosed today in letters written by Mrs. Brewster to relatives and friends in this city.
The setting of the matrimonial tangle of the wealthy publisher, who deserted his wife for Corliss Palmer, shifted suddenly to this city when it became known that Mrs. Brewster was formerly a San Francisco girl, Miss Eleanor Cator. "I lived in hell. A tortured mind and a pain-racked soul," Mrs. Brewster wrote in one of her letters which was received in this city.
The letters, written by the former local girl to her father and friends in San Francisco, reveal the fiery courtship of Brewster, who was then nearly 50 years old, the gaining of an older sister to marry the younger, aged 21, and subsequently the tragic triangle that came with the appearance of the Palmer girl, for whom Brewster now professes love.

Thomas V. Cator, father of Mrs. Brewster, was an election commissioner of San Francisco and an authority on political law. He was married to the beautiful and wealthy Anna Van Voss, daughter of a New Jersey family that numbered Presidents Van Buren and John Quincy Adams among its ancestors. They were divorced in San Francisco, while Eleanor, then 17, was studying at the Notre Dame convent in San Jose. Later Mrs. Cator married Professor William Hervey, San Jose music teacher, and they moved to a palatial residence in San Jose.

ENTER WEALTHY SUITOR.
It was at this time, according to the letters, that the wealthy Brewster entered as a suitor for the hand of Eleanor's older sister, Marie, divorced wife of Max Wardell, a Seattle lawyer, who later became a teacher in Philosophy. The suit of Brewster for Marie's hand continued over a period of four years, and in the meantime Eleanor had departed for a musical education in Paris.

When the younger sister returned to the United States, she met Brewster, and he abruptly ended his courtship of Marie and began a new one with Eleanor. The letters, giving in intimate detail Brewster's infatuation for Corliss Palmer and later his desertion of the wife, were discovered yesterday in the possession of the wife's friends and relatives.

"He (Brewster) told me in cold blood that I was to be his wife in name only and that Palmer was to be his constant companion," states one of the more recent letters, penned last April by Mrs. Brewster.

Another letter, written from Mrs. Brewster in New York, follows in part:
"I remember one day in the summer when Lillian Gish was here and saw him (the baby) and he was only five months old, how he laughed up at her and kicked up his little feet. Then Eugene and I took him out in the automobile at times, and he seemed to enjoy it. That was the time that Eugene had been unselfish should have devoted his time to me. Instead of going into producing of pictures, which has brought nothing but death to me."

"I was unselfish toward his new hobby and gave up lots of my time to it, and to the contests which for the two years that we have lived here has kept the place upset much of the time. Eugene had the girl who won the prize last year to come here, that he might direct her and train her for the pictures. (She could not act, and did not know what to do with herself after a year's training cannot act yet to be any good.)"

PRIZE WINNER RAPPED.
"Well, at that time I knew nothing about her, except that she was badly bred, and without money. I was told by a friend of what kind of a girl she was, and Eugene kept saying that he thought it was so nice for her to be here and that she was lonely, and would make a good friend for me to have around the house, and less expensive to keep her here while he was using her in pictures."

"While she was here before I found her out, I loaned her clothes, and did so many things to help her to get on in her picture work, and was kindness itself to her. She it seems by Eugene's admission since, was terribly jealous of me. She tried to intimate me in many ways, and get certain things similar to mine, and even went so far as to tint her hair aureole to make it resemble mine, but it is a long way from being like mine. (She has her hair a muddy henna color.)"

Brewster from her Long Island home to a San Francisco friend.

She described the suffering, mental and physical, to which she was subjected after the birth of the Brewsters' only child.

"I was invited to keep my own apartment near the baby," the letter continues, "with he and Palmer shut themselves up in his apartment every night, where they made out they had work to do."

"They played games together, went back and forth to town in his car daily, she occupying our apartment in town, conducting with Eugene's private affairs."

"The thoughts that have rushed through my head at night in bed have worked me up to such a tension that I would find myself crying my eyes out in the pain of my head, and then I would realize what was going on in his apartment and would let go and try to relax again, and then in spite of my efforts to restrain them the tears would be pouring over my pillow."

BEAUTY RANISHED.
"The agony of mind gave me months of nightmares. Along toward the end of March things got so bad that I was advised to put Palmer out and insist upon her living elsewhere. She left, and Eugene moved out, too, and now he comes only once a week, then only to read his mail, and this creature rides with him and waits in the machine at Minicopa."

Another letter, written from Mrs. Brewster in New York, follows in part:

Attack Story of Woman Doubted
The police are working on the charge that Mrs. Brewster, 47 years, was bruised when she fell and that she was not attacked by a strange man, and woman, she claimed in a report to the police yesterday. "A police say that they think she is suffering from a nervous breakdown. Captain of Inspectors Richard McFarley says that fifteen years ago Mrs. Mills' daughter was burned to death in a fire in Piedmont."

CHILDREN PLAN MOTHER'S CHRISTMAS

"It's a hard time to think of mother's Christmas present. There are four of us out in the business world these days so we should afford something worth while. Have you given it any thought yet?"

"Marry and I were talking about it just the other day and Marry says mother would love something for the house, but I don't know of anything of that sort."

"Well, I think Marry's dead wrong. Mother sacrifices her own personal desires all through the year buying just such things. I think we should by her clothes something, purely personal for Christmas."

"Good for you, Dick. For a man you do have an idea or so, don't you? I do agree with you, though. What shall it be?"

"Why not clothes? You know how mother always puts off buying clothes for some dishes or a piece of furniture, but you're a woman and would know what she would like most."

"Well, I know what she needs most and really wants and that's a good-looking dark coat for good. It would cost a good deal, though."

"What of that? We ought to give her something worth while. What's more, we could get it at Cherry's, where we could have several months to pay. We four could buy her a fine coat easily." 515 Thirteenth street.

"Let's go down there Saturday evening."

Alameda Zone Law Will Be Debated

ALAMEDA, Dec. 12.—The new zoning ordinance which the Alameda city council has been drafting for some months will be debated tonight at a conference in the city hall between members of the council and a committee of 20 from the Alameda chamber of commerce, headed by Edward Babus, president, according to an announcement made today by C. E. Hickok, city manager.

The findings of the committee will be reported at the next meeting of the council, Hickok declares.

HUSBAND AVOIDED REUNION, CHARGE

A Thanksgiving family reunion which her husband willfully neglected to attend at his own house is the chief cause of complaint in a divorce suit filed against Chris Volker, owner of an automobile service station at East Fourteenth street and Fifty-fourth avenue, by Mrs. Lulu M. Volker, 5411 Wadsworth place.

She declares that her husband has been surly and offensive to her since their marriage in San Jose, November 18, 1920, and that she started divorce proceedings in 1921, but he begged for a reconciliation and she consented.

Since their marriage in Seattle on May 18, 1918, Root says, his wife has acted moody and dissatisfied and began keeping late hours, refusing any explanation when she returned home. Finally he discovered, Root says, that his wife was associating with Francis Corcoran. When he demanded that she break off her association with Corcoran his wife only sneered at him, Root says.

On October 29, last, he declares, his wife left him and joined Corcoran.

CAVE MAN HELD TO BLAME FOR BROKEN HOME
It was a cave man affinity that caused his domestic troubles, William E. Root indicates in a divorce complaint on file today in which he declares that his wife, Mrs. Helen L. Root, after showing dissatisfaction with her home life left him for Francis Corcoran, of whom his wife had pictures posted as a cave man and almost nude, he declares.

Since their marriage in Seattle on May 18, 1918, Root says, his wife has acted moody and dissatisfied and began keeping late hours, refusing any explanation when she returned home. Finally he discovered, Root says, that his wife was associating with Francis Corcoran. When he demanded that she break off her association with Corcoran his wife only sneered at him, Root says.

Inspector Praises Oranges at Oroville
OROVILLE, Dec. 12.—The bulk of the orange crop in Northern California has been harvested and is in the packing houses, according to Ralph H. Gray, fruit and vegetable inspector of the state department of agriculture, who has had charge of orange inspection in this district.

There are still about forty cases to be brought in from the Heart and Palermo sections, Gray says. In size, quality and color the Oroville oranges this season are ideally suited to the eastern market, said Gray. They are meeting with a ready, even an urgent demand, and have preference over oranges from any other section.

NECK BROKEN BY FALL
REDDING, Dec. 12.—Thomas O. Sargent, aged 31, a carpenter, died early today from a broken neck, Saturday night Sargent went to the porch of his home and slipped in the snow, falling 20 feet.

IF YOU NEED A MEDICINE YOU SHOULD HAVE THE BEST
Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promise of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says: "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism. You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS
der bothers you, drink lots of Water.
When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and frantically look for a cure. With a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste. So we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active. Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with "Epsom" salt, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness. Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everyone should take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and active. Try this salt today, keep up the water drinking, and be doubly sure you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. —Advertisement.

Cruiser Boston May Be Broken Up

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—According to local navy officials, the proposed transfer of the naval training station from Goat Island to San Diego would probably mean the breaking up of the receiving ship Boston, which as a cruiser took part in the battle of Manila Bay. It was not considered likely that, in the event of the change, the Boston would be sent to San Diego. Provisions for the transfer of the station are made in the new navy appropriation bill.

Christmas Savings Club

The different classes of the Christmas Savings Club have long been recognized as the easiest way of saving money for Christmas shopping.

Now, THE OAKLAND BANK greatly increases the convenience of this method of saving by making the Christmas Savings Club one of the services offered in all of its seven neighborhood branches.

Never before have the people of Oakland been offered such convenience in Christmas Savings Club service. The one drawback to this method of saving—that of coming down town each week to make a deposit—is now removed. Deposits can be conveniently made in the nearest neighborhood branch as well as at the main bank.

TRUFELLI AND SAMPSON MEET IN FINALS OF NORTHERN CALIFORNIA PRO CHAMPIONSHIP

KREMER AND ARLETT WILL NOT BE SOLD TO MAJOR LEAGUE CLUB

Oaks Get Walter Mails From Cleveland by Out-right Purchase; Weather too Rough for Cal and Herbie at Chicago.

By EDDIE MURPHY

President J. Cal Ewing and Secretary Herbert McFarlin of the Oakland Baseball Association took their friends by surprise by hopping off a train at Sixteenth street depot yesterday afternoon. The officials of the local club found the weather too rough for them around Chicago and decided to come straight home without paying any visits to friends in the Windy City. Although it was pouring rain at the time Herbie and Cal were greeted by their wives at the depot, they expressed joy at once again being back in the old home town. Cal said he would not give two Oakland blocks for any Eastern or Middle West city. Ray Kremer and "Buz" Arlett will be with the Oaks next season as far as they know, and Walter Mails is the property of the Oakland club. These were the most important announcements they had to make in regard to their trip.

When the Ewings and McFarlins returned to the city, they found plenty of opposition. Sacramento, San Francisco and other club owners were not after Mails, but the Oakland bosses went back there with the intention of landing the big southpaw and they made their intentions good. Mails comes to the local club through an out-right purchase. There were rumors around that Louis Guiso might also come to the Oaks and in return Ray Kremer or "Buz" Arlett would go up to the Indians. But nothing of the kind will happen. The Oakland owners paid for Mails and Guiso and club in the city. Mails does not have an option for the first time in years the Oakland club has secured a big league player without having to pay the major league club an option on their club.

Kremer and Arlett to Remain With the Oaks.

"It is not worth about me being offered $20,000 for 'Buz' Arlett," remarked Ewing. "No major league club owners or managers implied directly or indirectly that they were going to buy him. A couple of people asked what the Oakland club would take for one of the two pitchers, but they were not men who were connected with any big club, so Ewing refused to talk business."

The trade which brings Marty McGaffigan to the Oaks for Art Koehler was made with Manager Charlie Cook and Lew Browning of the Senators. Ewing and McFarlin believed that a change of scenery would do Koehler much good, and the Sacramento officials felt the same way about McGaffigan. The Oaks have an option on the big right-hander of the Senators League. They were given that for the release of pitcher "Doc" Jones.

Infielder Merwin Smith was highly recommended to both Ewing and McFarlin by every club leader in the Texas League. "Brown was disposed of, because he was one of those players who could not be depended upon to play good ball every day," said Ewing.

Sickness in Family Kept Ivan at Home.

Del Howard was not in the party which arrived at the depot yesterday. He decided to stay over for a while and will be in Oakland about next Monday and he may have some more good news for the Oakland fans. Ewing said that it may be some time before a certain new outfielder will be landed.

John Howard did not make the trip to the Louisville meeting because of the illness of his little girl Ruth. Ivan and to leave here immediately after the close of the season and make his home in the south for the benefit of his girl's health.

Frank J. Nunn, president of the Detroit Tigers, approached Ewing in the hotel lobby at Louisville and apologized for switching Eric Arlett over to the Oaks. "I promised to give you a good player last season to make up for Arlett, but I fell down on the job, and I intend to make good this spring," said Nunn. However, the Oakland club is not planning to trade anything for the Detroit pitcher.

OPTION OF BOEHLER.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Dec. 12.—The Pittsburgh Pirates have obtained an option on George Boehler, pitcher of the Tulsa Western League club. It was announced today. Boehler was 40 years and lost 11 with the Tulsa club last season.

GAME CALLED OFF.

Owing to the poor condition of the gridiron at Vallejo the game between the football teams of the Oaks and Live Oaks was called off on Sunday. The Oaks will play the game on Monday.

San Francisco Club Will Lose Its Job.

Rumors were out before the game that Bob Fisher would be Maryland's next coach and the director of the Harvard coaching system.

EASTERN TEAMS DID WELL DURING 1922

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(United Press.)—During the season, the Eastern teams did well during 1922. The season was a success for the Eastern teams, who were able to win many games and finish in a high position in the league.

Favorites in Hard Luck in Year Closing

Many "Busts" Featured the 1922 Sport Season; Remember Yanks?

(United Press Staff Editor)

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—(United Press.)—While the closing year has produced many notable achievements in sports, it was more famous for its developments of first class "busts." Favorites had a terrible year and some of the best of all the upsets were reserved for a final smack during the football season.

It would be difficult to classify the biggest bust of the year. But George Carpentier was the head of them and neither was Babe Ruth.

Perhaps Ruth was the outstanding failure of the year, because in his downfall there was not the element of chance and luck that was in the case of Carpentier. When it came against the jaw of the handsome Carpentier.

The Babe was a bust and a terrible one, through faults particularly and peculiarly his own.

The real prize bust of baseball, however, were the New York Yankees in the world series. Ruth with his own little reversal of form helped the American League champions to lose four straight games to the Giants and thereby provide a surprise from which many pocketbooks have not yet recovered.

Morich, the champion two-year-old of 1921, was the big bust of the year. He won the Kentucky Derby and the Preakness Stakes, but he was defeated in the Belmont Stakes.

New Link in Oak Infield

MARTY McGAFFIGAN, shown here, is expected to add a lot of speed to the Oakland Club next season.

The little infielder comes to the locals in a trade for Art Koehler, who reports to Sacramento.

Claremonter Reaches Final With Sampson

John Black Declines the Issue When Rain Soaks the Course.

By W. D. MONTICOLL

Dave Trufelli upheld the Claremont reputation yesterday at Lakeside when he won his way to the final in the Northern Professional Golfers' Association tournament. Dave won his morning game with Arthur East 4-3, just when the latter was at the height of his game, and after lunch he gained a victory over Phil Cuneo, who had eliminated Ray Ball in the morning. John Black rested all day Sunday after his wetting on Saturday and was feeling all right again, but wisely refrained from enduring another drenching at Lakeside yesterday.

Paul Conroy is a much improved player these days and after resting a bye from John Black gave Sampson a hard battle before losing out at the 18th 3-down. Sampson and Trufelli will contest the final next Monday over 36 holes for the Sam Whitting cup and the championship of the Northern California professionals. Dave Trufelli should do well in the next month's open tournaments. Last year the Claremont assistant professional had the unique distinction of holding out in one at the 13th at Ingleside, and would have had a record score had he not got badly trapped at the 18th.

Yesterday's detailed scores follows:

SECOND ROUND
Harold Sampson defeated Bert Wilde at the 21st.
Paul Conroy won from John Black by 1 stroke.
Till Cuneo defeated Ray Ball 1 up.

Dave Trufelli defeated Arthur East, 4 and 3.
Sampson defeated Conroy, 3 and 2.

Trufelli defeated Cuneo, 4 and 3. The final will be played at Lakeside next Monday over 36 holes.

HAIGHT SCHOOL IS Winner of Alameda School Basketball

HAIGHT school S-S basketball team won the championship of the Alameda city schools by defeating Lincoln R-8 by a score of 18-10. These two teams met in the finals of the eighth grade league as a result of win of Haight over Porter 30-11, and a 16-1 win of Lincoln from Washington.

The final game, which was held on the Haight school court, was highly contested. The first half Lincoln leading 10-0. Haight had everything her own way the second half, holding Lincoln scoreless and making five baskets. High point going to Haight's Alan Young with 15 points, and Ike Spackman with 8 points. Alameda led for Lincoln school in points made, making 6 points.

Dempsey to Second Benjamin Tonight

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 12.—Jack Dempsey, heavyweight boxing champion, will fight second for Los Angeles, when he meets light-weight, who will meet Phil Salvador of Los Angeles tonight at the Vernon arena, according to the champion's present plans.

Benjamin claims the Pacific Coast lightweight title. He has met Salvador twice before, Salvador winning one verdict and Benjamin one. The winner of tonight's fray will be matched with Ray Loug of Oklahoma City, Okla., in championship of the world.

Benjamin's knee, which has been bothering him, is now in good shape, he said.

In the semi-finals, Mack House, Los Angeles, colored light heavy-weight, will trade punches with Sator Ritter, Pacific fleet middle-weight.

Bakersfield to Play San Diego Saturday

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 12.—(United Press.)—Bakersfield and San Diego high schools will play at the stadium here Saturday in the semi-final state championship series. It was announced here today.

LANE EXPECTED HOOVER WOULD BE CANDIDATE TO SUCCEED TO PRESIDENCY

Secretary of Interior Wrote Country Needed Two-Fisted Administrator to Guide Nation's Affairs

PREDICTED HE'D QUIT CABINET

This is the TENTH letter of the Franklin K. Lane series.
Another will be printed tomorrow.

(Copyright, 1922, by Anne W. Lane)

Washington, Nov. 28, 1919.

Do not be surprised if you hear that I am out of the cabinet soon. For I have been offered two fifty thousand a year places, and another even more. I don't want to leave if it will embarrass the President, but I do want something with a little money in it for awhile. . . . But I must see the President before I decide. . . . and I don't know when that will be now that he is sick.

This life has a great fascination for every one and I dread to leave it; for anything else will bore me I am sure. I deal here only with big questions and not with details—with policies that affect many, and yet I have but a year and a half more, and then what? Perhaps it is well to take time by the forelock, tho' I do not want to decide selfishly nor for money only. I must go where I can feel that I am in public work of some kind. . . .

I have served him (the President) long and faithfully under very adverse circumstances. It is hard for him to get on with anyone who has any will or independent judgment. Yet I am not given to forsaking those to whom I have any duty.

Sunday, December, 1919.

The President is getting better slowly, but we communicate with him almost entirely through his doctor (Grayson). I shall be mighty sorry to leave here, where we have so many friends, but my hope is to get enough to buy a place in California, one of these days, and settle down to the normal life of digging a bit in the soil and then digging a bit in the brain.

"No Big Men in the Line Except Hoover."

December, 1919.

Things are going well notwithstanding the President's illness. No one is satisfied that we know the truth, and every dinner table is filled with speculation. Some say paralysis, and some say insanity. Grayson tells me it is nervous breakdown, whatever that means. He is, however, getting better, and meantime the cabinet is running things.

Politically things do not look interesting. There are no big men in the line except Hoover. The country wants some many, two-fisted administrator and it doesn't care where he comes from.

Rochester, Minnesota, Jan. 3, 1920.

Bryan has come back. What strength he will develop no one can tell. He evidently has determined that he will not be pushed aside or disregarded. He has been, and will continue to be as long as he lives, a great force in our politics. People believe that he is honest and know he is sympathetic with the moral aspirations of the plain people. They distrust his administrative ability, but on the moral question they recognize no one as having greater authority.

I hear there is talk among the business people of setting up a third party and nominating Hoover. Two things the next President must know—Europe and America, European conditions and American conditions. The President of the United States must be his own secretary of state. We need administration of our internal affairs and wise guidance economically. Hoover can give these. He has the knowledge and he has the faculty. He has the confidence of Europe and the confidence of America. He is not a Democrat, nor is he a Republican. He voted for Wilson, for Roosevelt, and McKinley. But he is one, progressive, competent. The women are strong for him and there are fifteen million of them who will vote this year. It would not surprise me to see him nominated on either ticket, and I believe I will vote for him now as against anybody else.

But I must quit talking politics because I am going out of it entirely, completely, and I really have been out of politics ever since I left California. I have tried to take a broad non-partisan view of things, which is one of the reasons I have had hard shelling. But I am going without a groinch, without a complaint or a criticism—with a great admiration for Hoover and with a thorough knowledge of his defects; and with a more sympathetic attitude toward my colleagues than any can have who do not know the circumstances as well as I do. . . .

$50,000 a Year Offer Renewed.

Washington, Jan. 5, 1920.

To Admiral Cary Grayson.

My Dear Admiral: I am not a politician. I am not a politician. I have been my purpose to wait until such time as the President was well enough to see me and talk the matter over with him. I understand from Mr. Tamm that the President is prepared to name my successor, and that it would not in any way add to his embarrassment to fill my place in the near future. I would like to know if this is the fact, for my course will be shaped accordingly. Two years ago I had an offer of $50,000 a year which I put aside because I thought it my duty to stay while the war was on. When Mr. McAdoo resigned, this offer was renewed, but I then thought that I should await the conclusion of formal peace, which all expected would come soon. While the President was West, I promised that I would take the matter up with him on his return, and since then I have been waiting for his return to strength. I need not tell you that I am delighted to know that he is in such condition now as to turn to matters that in the best of health are vexatious, if this is the fact.

My sole reason for resigning is that I feel that I am entitled to have assurance as to the future of my family and myself. I have been in public life 21 years and have less than nothing in the way of private means. . . . And having given the better part of my life to the public, I feel that I must now regard the interest of those dependent upon me.

I wish you would be perfectly frank with me, for I would do nothing that with your knowledge you would think would make against the welfare of our chief. Cordially.

FRANKLIN K. LANE.

(Sends Resignation to President.

To Hon. Woodrow Wilson
The White House

Washington, Feb. 5, 1920.

My Dear Mr. President: It is with deep regret that I feel compelled to resign the commission with which you saw fit to honor me, by appointing me to a place in your cabinet, now almost seven years ago. If it will meet your convenience I would suggest that I be permitted to resign on the first of March.

With the conditions which make this step necessary you are familiar. I have served the public for 21 years, and that service appeals to me as none other can, but I must now think of other duties.

The program of administration and legislation looking to the development of our resources, which I have suggested from time to time, is now in large part in effect, or soon will come into effect through the action of Congress.

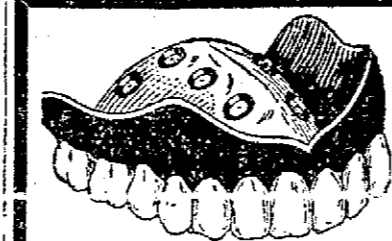

I return this department into your hands with very real gratitude that you have given me the opportunity to know well a working force holding so many men and women of singular ability and rare spirit.

I trust that you may soon be so completely restored to health that the country and the world may have the benefit of the full measure of your strength in the leadership of their affairs. The discouragements of the present are, I believe, only temporary. The country knows that for America to stand outside the League of Nations will bring neither pride to us nor confidence to the world.

Believing me, my dear President, always, cordially and faithfully yours,

"AFTER THE BATTLE" seems to be an appropriate title for this picture, but it is not in accord with the facts. The truth of the matter is this: Ariovistus, the Pantages cat, underwent an operation recently at the hands of Dr. William Nelson, the mere man in the picture. She was unable to look after the two kittens, so Queenie, a mongrel fox terrier, volunteered to nurse them for her.—Photo by TRIBUNE Staff Photographer.

—Copyright by Underwood.

HULA OR HIGHLAND FLING?—The photographer agreed that the hula as exemplified by Jacqueline Logan (left) and the Highland fling as demonstrated by Lila Lee (right) were distinctly related. Jacqueline mastered the intricacies of the hula hula on a Pacific island where she went with George Melford and his company for the filming of scenes in his new Paramount production, "Ebb Tide." She found it had a lot in common with the Highland Fling.

A MODERN AMERICAN CASTLE—This huge wall of stone quarried "on the spot," surrounds Paterno Castle in Manhattan, built by Dr. Charles V. Paterno, Italian-American realty millionaire. The wall will not be finished until next year and will then be 700 feet long, 70 feet high, and 18 feet thick. Some day it will be covered with roses and greenery. It is to be surmounted by a virtual duplicate of the famous Monastery Colonnade at Capri, Italy.

UNEMPLOYED THOUSANDS DEMAND AUDIENCE WITH BONAR LAW—Recently in London, men out of employment formed bands and insisted upon seeing Premier Law. The crowd is said to have been a desperate one, ready for mischief, and No. 10 Downing street was menaced for several days. Police kept the men at a distance. It was said that it needed only a fiery leader to set the crowd's emotion aflame.

BEAUTY CONTEST WINNER IN LEGAL CONTEST—Here's a recent photograph of Miss Corliss Palmer, formerly of Marion, Ga., and now of New York. Since winning the "Fame and Fortune Contest" in 1920, she has been employed as a motion picture actress. She was named as co-respondent in a suit for seduction brought by Mrs. Eleanor V. V. Brewster against Eugene Brewster, New York lawyer and publisher of movie and beauty magazines.

NEW CALIPH RIDES INTO CONSTANTINOPLE ON A HORSE—Here is Abdul Medjid Effendi, elected by Turkish Nationalist Assembly to succeed his cousin, Mohammed VI, as Caliph and Sheikh ul Islam—head of the Mohammedan church. The new caliph recently revived the tradition of mediaeval days by riding to the Mosque of St. Sophia on horseback in ancient cavalier fashion. The prince had anything but an ecclesiastical appearance, attired as he was in a uniform, riding boots and the conventional fez.

SAN FRANCISCO, 1865—YESTERDAY'S AGO—figure it out for yourself. This old-time photo was taken in 1865. It comes to that roughly, doesn't it? The picture shows the California street hill as it looked then. The hill and the old church on the edge of Chinatown are still there. Everything else has changed.

Uncle Wiggily

Howard R. Garis
UNCLE WIGGILY AND BECKIE'S BOTTLE.

He sat down beside Beckie's bed

"Don't it too bad, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Nurse Jane Puzzy. "Vuzzy one day, as the muckrat lady housekeeper returned to the bunny's hollow stump bungalow, after having been down town shopping, 'Isn't what too bad?' Mr. Long-ears wanted to know. 'I hope you aren't saying it's too bad that you have brought the Wiggily Wolf or the fuzzy fox home with you?' 'No, indeed!' laughed Nurse Jane, though her smile soon faded and she looked sad and sorrowful. 'It meant it was too bad about Beckie's bottle!'"

"What's the matter with Beckie?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "I hope she didn't eat so much of the honey that Beckie brought home as to make herself ill. I hope not that!"

"Well, Beckie is ill," said Nurse Jane, "though it isn't from eating too much honey. It's something else. She has a sore mouth and can't eat anything."

"Oh, that is quite too bad!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "So Beckie is ill with a sore mouth and can't eat? I'll go right over and see her. I can at least cheer her up by telling her a funny story."

Putting on his pink silk hat and twinking his pink nose, Uncle Wiggily hopped across the field to the house of Beckie Stubtail. The little girl bear sister of Noddie.

"How is Beckie?" asked Uncle Wiggily when Mrs. Stubtail opened the door to let him in.

"Not much better," answered the lady bear. "I have sent for Dr. Possum, for if Beckie doesn't eat soon she will get as thin as a rail from the fence. And goodness knows if ever we bears need to be fat and plump it is during the winter."

"Yes," agreed Uncle Wiggily, "that's so. But while you are waiting for Dr. Possum, I'll see if I can cheer up Beckie. So the bunny gentleman went in the room where Beckie was lying in bed, and after telling her the world soon be better he told her a funny story of a little mouse girl who was always getting her tail tied in a hard knot and then the mouse girl would have to get the pussy cat to loosen the knot in the tail."

"Oh, don't tell me any more funny stories like that, Uncle Wiggily, if you please," begged Beckie.

"Why not?" asked the bunny gentleman.

"Because I want to laugh and my mouth is so sore it hurts me even to smile," said Beckie. "And oh, how hungry I am! But I can't eat with a sore mouth. Do you think I'll get better by Christmas, Uncle Wiggily?" "Cause I want to eat then."

"Oh, you'll be all right by Christmas," laughed Uncle Wiggily, and then in came Dr. Possum. He looked at Beckie's sore mouth, and gave her some juice of a plant called Gold Thread.

"You will be better in three days," said Dr. Possum.

"But I can't go three days without eating!" mumbled Beckie. "And I can't open my mouth wide enough to take any food. It's hard enough to drink water."

"I have an idea," cried Uncle Wiggily. "If Beckie can swallow water she can take milk, and milk is a good food. And if she can open her mouth only a little way then we must find some plan to get milk into her mouth, if she only just opens her jaws just the least bit. I think a bottle would be best."

"What do you mean by a bottle?" asked Dr. Possum.

When'er I go—
To see a show—
To pass dull time away—
And possibly to learn—
From pantomime upon the screen—
Some things I never knew before—
To study there emotions strong—
That sway us all like cockle shells—
In life's tumult—its roaring rapids—
I am amazed when there steps forth—
A maiden blushing in her teens—
Adept at sighing—
With eyes as soft as lilac eyes—
When they look up in early Spring—
At me—and lure me—
And she no sooner wins my heart—
For—oh—I do love smiling eyes—
Than there steps forth upon the screen—
A hero dressed in latest mode—
Who never has a thing to do—
But pose and prance—
With song and dance—
And polish bright his finger nails—
Quite soon enough a face appears—
A rose-lipped face—
From out behind a bunch of orchids—
And their eyes meet—
Right then and there my heart tells me—
That I have lost—
And he has won—
This man who leads the screen parade—
In polished puttees—
And he knows her a day or two—
And takes her out in limousine—
That's always handy—
Then suddenly he holds her close—Embraces her and tastes her lips—
And seemingly quite satisfied—
He kneels upon a Persian rug—
And whispers things I'd like to hear—
But all I know she melts right close—
Into his all embracing arms—
And answers—Yes—
At least it says so on the screen—
And this is life—or is it?
Why do they stop at this word—Yes—
Nor paint the rapids on ahead—
That all must cross who dare to row—
Adown life's stream with willing partner—
Are they afraid that they might scare—
The timid from young lover's ranks—
And dare not risk it?
For everyone who will admit—Knows that the drama just begins—
Upon the day she whispers—Yes—
When years to come find maiden's charm all fading—
They pause just when the test begins—
I wonder why?

Chaining a Montinous Wolf

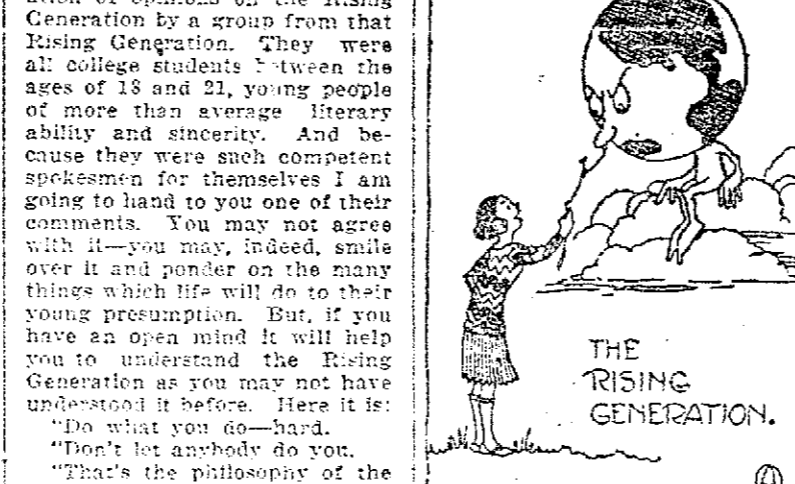

ONE night the gods and goddesses were awakened by a sleepless howling. It was the Fenris Wolf, a monster which was being badly to the Fenris Wolf.

Chaining the Fenris Wolf.
prowling around not far from the edges of heaven.
"The wolf is hungry," said Tyr, the war-god. "I'll go and feed him."
And while he went the Fuzzy Fox crept into the room to nibble the bunny's ears. But Beckie saw the Fox. The little girl bear took the nose in her mouth and held it there until she was all well.
"Squizz squizz!" went a lot of milk in the face of the Fox.
"Oh, Wozel! Wozel!" howled the bad chap, and then with his eyes filled with milk away he ran, and Uncle Wiggily and Beckie's bottle.

Geraldine's SHOULDER

Listen, World!

IT was my privilege recently to read a very interesting document. It was a compilation of opinions on the Rising Generation by a group from that Rising Generation. They were all college students—between the ages of 18 and 21, young people of more than average literary ability and sincerity. And because they were such competent spokesmen for themselves I am going to hand to you one of their comments. You may not agree with it—you may, indeed, smile over it and ponder on the many things which life will do to their young presumption. But, if you have an open mind it will help you to understand the Rising Generation as you may not have understood it before. Here it is:

"Do what you go—hard."

"Don't let anybody do you."

"That's the philosophy of the rising generation—and behind it lies the answer to whatever you can't understand about us. We have enough energy, enthusiasm and knowledge to do anything we want to do. We play hard. But have you noticed that we work just as hard?"

"No mental cesspools for us—that's our slogan. No unexpressed desires and morbid sentiments stagnate in our minds as soon as we get 'em out. We give 'em the air, and on the strength of the honest-to-goodness ozone, we're out to show you that we know what we're shouting about when we say nothing is impossible. Get off your dime long enough to see whether it's true. We're not going to be satisfied until we've won our point."

"It's not that we lack respect for your judgment—we don't. But we respect it a whole lot more if you'll give us a chance."

"What's the use of being good?" asks Jerry and June. "It's not through any more of it."

"I'm not quoting mottoes and 'Good Bless Our Homes' when I say that goodness is its own reward. I think that most people who mean very little—that they 'protest too much.'"

"The seem to come up with an attitude like that voiced in the foregoing protest."

"To me that sort of goodness corresponds to playing a 'Smile' game. It's a game, and a dirty one on the wall—being good just for show."

"Being a decent human should imply more than that. Playing the game for the sake of the game and not for what Jerry says, the neighbor on the right, thinks, must have a spiritual relation that's worth working a bit for."

"All of which sounds as though I were peevish at the writers of the following letter. I'm simply trying to show that that is what they are to TRULY BELIEVE that counts more than anything else."

"Dear Geraldine:

"Having read your column for some time, have decided to write to you, asking you to do me a favor. We are two young girls and would like to get acquainted with some decent young men. When we go with boys and they find that we are decent, they usually drop us like a hot brick. We are a decent couple, man and wife. I haven't been here long, but my cousin has lived here all her life. We are not unattractive, as whenever we are out alone, there are always fellows in pairs smiling and inviting us to get to with them."

"WHAT IS THE USE OF TRYING TO BE GOOD? ONE ISN'T THOUGHT ANY MORE OF, FOR."

"We are fun-loving girls and like to have a good time in a good way. I work in a restaurant, but my cousin lives with her folks, but we are together a great deal. We could meet the kind of fellows we want to get to know. We are more young men than like the kind of girls we are."

"You may laugh at this letter and consider it foolish, but I am in earnest. We are twenty and twenty-two years old."

"BETTY and JUNE."

"I'm not laughing, for I think it is the cry of many a girl who is being led by the nose by a boy who is not right out of their hearts—but, IT ISN'T TRUE."

It is true in fact, in the slums. Suspicion and a conviction that every boy is "bad" doesn't make good "bait" for real FRIENDS.

I am going to print the following letter. First, because it is going to make you think, and second, because I am glad that the Jerry gang are broad-minded enough to WANT to solve for themselves every vital question that arises. It's a question that a generation ago no one would have asked. The answer, to my mind, lies in laws governing eugenics.

nir, you go and tell them what we want."

Skim was a servant of the summer god. He was young, strong and faithful. Going to the Black Elms, he obtained a chain for the Fenris Wolf.

"What a chain it was! As light as silk, as thin as thread!"

The gods could hardly believe such a chain would bind the wolf. The wolf saw the tiny chain, and thought there must be magic in it. He would not let himself be bound at first, but Tyr called him.

The silken cord was tied round the beast's neck and legs. He struggled to get free, but it was no use. The harder he tried, the tighter he was held.

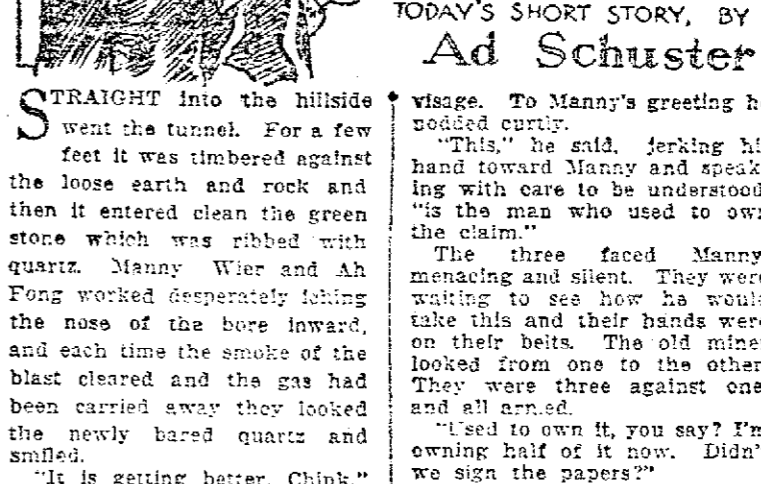

It was placed between two mighty rocks.

After the Fenris Wolf was bound, he howled more than ever and kept many a tired god awake at night; but he was no longer a danger—at least, not until the Last Battle.

And this is how the world came to be saved.

The Missed Hole

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

STRAIGHT into the hillside went the tunnel. For a few feet it was timbered against the loose earth and rock and then it entered clean the green stone which was ribbed with quartz. Manny Wier and Ah Fong worked desperately taking the nose of the bore inward, and each time the smoke of the blast cleared and the gas had been carried away they looked the newly bared quartz and smiled.

"It is getting better, Chink," Manny said. "Come on, let's go after it. We'll have her into the vein by the time Crandall gets back."

Ah Fong smiled. Crandall had been gone a week. The Chinese did not care if he never came back.

For the first time in his life Manny Wier had forsaken the lone adventure for partnership. This was a claim requiring capital, a hard rock proposition which balked him. Crandall, with his book knowledge and acquaintance in town, had offered to go halves. Papers had been signed and now the younger partner was off for supplies and equipment.

While his partner was gone Manny and Ah Fong had started the tunnel. It had been easy through the dirt and sand, but the bedrock was reached there were promising signs. He would show Crandall an old man wasn't so useless. When his partner saw this tunnel which had been started he is going to be surprised.

"Up and at 'em, Ah Fong," Manny shouted. "One more blast before supper and we'll clear her out in the morning."

Ah Fong drilled the hole and Manny planted the charge. Then they scurried out and waited for the tunnel to belch smoke and rock. There was no sound. It was hard rock men called a "barred hole."

"A fizzle," the old man growled. "That means bad luck. Ah Fong, and a lot of work in the morning. Go start the supper."

Before the Chinese had reached the stove he straightened and listened. On the trail was the noise of a sputtering motor. It was Crandall coming back. "Throw on all you have," the miner called, "and we'll celebrate progress."

Crandall was accompanied by two others, big men of sober visage. To Manny's greeting he bowed. "This," he said, jerking his hand toward Manny and speaking with care to be understood, "is the man who used to own the claim."

The three faced Manny, menacing and silent. They were waiting to see how he would take this and their hands were on their belts. The old miner looked from one to the other. They were three against one, and all armed.

"I used to own it, you say? I'm owning half of it now. Didn't we sign the papers?"

Crandall stepped forward. "The papers say I am the owner. You know it and you know it. I'm tired of having a crazy man muddling around here thinking he owns the place. We will have to go, Wier."

The old miner shook with anger. It had been so simple. For all he knew those papers might say anything. How should he know what all this whereas and party of the first and second meant? He did know this: he had been done, cheated of the best prospect in his life and by the man he had taken in to share it. Crandall stirred impatiently and the old man found his voice.

"There are three of you," he said, "against me and the Chink. Three of you trying to do an old man out of his property. I'm telling you I have followed the game for thirty years and this isn't the way it's done. You can sign the mine but it won't bring you luck. There's a curse on gold when—"

Crandall seized him roughly. "Cut that out," he shouted, "and beat it now before it's too late. He shoved the old man and started shoving after him. Pick, pan and other belongings. Ah Fong had tied up a bundle of food."

Next day Crandall and the two went into the tunnel to see what had been done. Their eyes gleamed at the sight of what in the quartz and it was Crandall who swung the pick which fell upon the "missed hole" and the charge of dynamite which had failed to explode the day before.

"Three went in and none came out," said old man Wier to Ah Fong from their place of vantage on the trail. "There is a curse on gold which is awful." And they turned their backs on the place and went off to look for a new prospect.

CLARICE PATTERNS

The New Bertha at a $10 Saving. (No. 1570)

A frock that would suit the young girl's fancy and mother's discernment is shown in the accompanying sketch. The popular Bertha collar, or "Modesty Piece," as it was known in the time of Queen Bertha, after whom it was rightfully named, has even invaded the very young girl's fashion domain. This style would be especially attractive for school wear if made of a serviceable blue serge and relieved by a Bertha collar as shown, made of sheer organdie or batiste. For Sundays or best wear, it could be made of velvet or silk with a lace Bertha, and still another possibility is to make the entire frock of a single material. If the latter suggestion were decided upon, the completed garment would cost about $2.75, figuring a silk and cotton crepe at $1 per yard.

The pattern No. 1570 cuts in Size 8 requires 2 1/2 yards 36-inch material.

Well, let me see, I'm not sure, I said.

There's nothing I'd like better than to sit here all day waiting for your royal answer, ma sed. Meaning she wouldn't, and just then Nora came in from the kitchen saying to me, I'm afraid the bread pudding is a little burnt man, in fact half of it is all black and the rest is kind of brown.

I'll take a little more of everything, I guess I sed, and ma sed. You'll do nothing of the kind, you'll just wait for the bread pudding, if other people can eat it a little brown, are you?

Aw, look, I sed, on Account of me not liking bread pudding say-how, so what must it of tasted like, but, only I ate a little anyways on account of not wanting to feel as if I had missed dizzard.

My Marriage Problems

Charles Garrison's
New Phase Of Revelations of a Wife

HOW MADGE FOUND DICKY.
With my heart pounding violently against my side I reached Dicky's car and I steadied myself against it, while a dozen wild conjectures flashed through my brain. In imagination I saw him killed in divers fashions, and was visualizing his body hidden in the forest canopy, when from the other side of the car, beneath which he evidently had been lying, Dicky rose with an air of deliberation that would not have deceived Junior.

"Well, what do you think you're doing now?" he blustered.

I paid no attention to his words, noting only the flash of unutterable relief in his eyes and the hoarseness of his voice with a touch of tremble in it. The next second I was round the car, widely clinging to him.

"Oh, Dicky! You're alive! You're alive!" I cried thankfully.

At the first touch of my hands he made a slight movement as if to thrust me away from him—patently the last fling of his furious wrath—but the next instant his arms went round me roughly, crushing me in so tight an embrace that I could scarcely breathe.

"You're alive!" I murmured again, and so I did not know that I been with the thought of possible accident to his car that I could think of nothing else.

"So are you?" Dicky growled. Then he held me by the shoulders, looking at me for a second or two with an expression that I had seen only a few times upon his face, and then only when he was greatly moved.

DICKY'S INDICTMENT

"Let me tell you something, my dear," he said slowly. "Of course, I realize that I was an unpardonable, dishonest brute, and all the rest of it when I got out of the car and yelled to you, but, bad as it was, it wasn't one, two, three to that insane performance of yours. Why didn't you get out of the car and knock me for a goal with the starting crank if you had to let off steam? Why did you drive recklessly, dangerously away?"

He shut his eyes, drawing a deep breath. "I'm not talking about any effect on myself or even you now," he went on, "but I've never known you to go completely off your trolley before—you've always had a marvelous amount of control. I want you to stop and think hard right now what it would have meant to Junior if anything had happened to you. It would have meant not only the loss of his mother, but the loss of his father."

"Oh! I know," I had waited contently before he uttered the last three words, and I stopped, gazing at him in open-mouthed astonishment.

"What, what do you mean?" I stammered.

His voice and gaze grew sterner, colder.

"Just stop and reflect a minute," he said judicially. "We leave the house, we go to the garage, we get the little drive together. I return unhurt, without a scratch, with no idea of where you are, pass out some plausible yarn about a breakdown somewhere, get my car and start out after you and find you dead beside the road. Do you suppose people would have believed that I had nothing to do with the accident? It might, of course, your bare come to any public trial—although the odds were in prison today on less evidence—but it would always have been an ugly scandal about me. Nice inheritance for Junior, don't you think so?"

"LET'S FORGET IT"

That Dicky was absolutely right in his indictment I knew, and was equally culpable. But it all seemed so small when I thought of my own folly. Yet, deep within my heart—a too deep for drawing forth—was a little barb of resentment against Dicky for the manner in which he was magnifying my offense and minimizing his own.

ous self-control, and had said that he had never known me to "go completely off my trolley before." Could he not see, I asked myself, that my only motive when he was concerned had been well worn out by his explosions of temper, and that while I was greatly to blame for what had happened, he was equally culpable? But if I read his attitude aright, he held his explosion to be no excuse or reason whatever for mine. He had apologized, because, as a gentleman he was ashamed of his brutality, but he judged my action as absolutely independent of his.

Even if I had wished to voice my thought, which I did not, I would have had no chance to do so, for Dicky, when he finished talking, crushed me in a rough embrace again.

"Well, not talk of it any more," he said a bit hoarsely. "I've been through something, I don't mind telling you, since you careened around that curve. And I imagine you have, too. So let's forget it, and figure out what's to be done about this car."

But even as I yielded to his impetuous embrace I knew that if a little barb of resentment was still embedded in my heart, and that even Dicky's kisses could not banish it today nor keep it from festering.

BOARD RECEIVES FURNITURE BIDS
ON THREE SCHOOLS

The board of education last night opened bids for furniture for the new Hamilton, Elmhurst and Lockwood junior high schools; authorized the business manager to request the Stewart Motion Picture Company to vacate the premises to be used for the future Susan B. Anthony Junior high school; and adopted a resolution that the board shall meet every Monday at 3 p. m. hereafter as a committee of the whole to consider the coming bond election.

The matter of using school department employees for campaign purposes was referred to the superintendent of schools, with power to act.

It was announced that this is the last week of school before the Christmas vacation season opens.

The 27 half-year terms of custodian service performed by E. J. Edwards of Lafayette school, who just resigned at the age of 71, caused favorable comment from the board, which authorized the business manager to draw up a letter of commendation.

The death of Custodian Thompson of Melrose Heights school, from blood poisoning, secured in the course of his duty, will be the topic of a meeting in the superintendent's office at 11:30 Wednesday morning. The board discussed its liability in the matter.

3000 Salesmen to Gather
In Oakland in February

Between 2500 and 3000 salesmen and commercial men from fifty of the largest cities in the country, among them men of world wide reputation as "super salesmen," will gather in Oakland February 23 to 25 as delegates to the convention of the International Association of Specialty Salesmen.

This announcement was made by C. P. Klinkner, secretary of the Oakland assembly of the association and regional vice-president of the international organization, before members of the local assembly meeting in the Hotel Oakland late yesterday afternoon. Klinkner announced that he had received word from International Headquarters at Albert G. Burns, whose headquarters are in Chicago, that all arrangements for the convention have been completed.

The convention will be held in the Municipal Auditorium, which has been donated for the purpose by the city. An important feature of the convention will be a great public celebration of Washington's Birthday. The principal address at this celebration will be delivered by Joseph R. Knowland, "Selling Oakland" to the salesmen of the country is to be one of the objects of the local members of the organization during the convention here. The local members are organized as Oakland Assembly No. 1, International Association of Specialty Salesmen, the first of the association's local branches to be formed in any part of the country.

Burns, who is an Oakland man, was elected president of the International Specialty Salesmen's Association at the annual convention of the organization held last year. The Oakland Chamber of Commerce and city officials have worked in close co-operation with the president of the salesmen's association to bring the convention to this city, according to Klinkner.

WOMEN TO SELL
CHRISTMAS SEALS
IN BUSINESS AREA

Christmas Seals will be distributed in the business sections of the Eastbay cities throughout the week, according to the announcement of Mrs. Dudley Kinsell, chairman of booths. Mrs. Kinsell has recruited more than 200 prominent women to the annual sale of the forty-five acres through the 1921 Christmas Seals sale, inaugurating last summer a temporary camp for more than 100 children suffering from malnutrition. Erection of the first unit of buildings will make possible the establishment of a year-round camp, where boys and girls of Alameda county may be sent to recover normal health under proper conditions of diet, recreation, and rest.

The following businesses are assisting Mrs. Kinsell in the booth sale: Theaters—Miss Elizabeth Clark, Broadway; Mrs. E. C. Robinson; Piggly-Wiggly—Mrs. E. C. Robinson; Markets—Miss Violet Whitney; Hotels—Mrs. Wm. J. Jones; Dry Goods—Mrs. David L. Hughes; City Hall—Mrs. Theodor Hughes; Drug Stores—Mrs. Robt. Wright; Restaurants—Mrs. A. J. Snyder; Candy Stores—Mrs. Everett J. Hunkley; Bakeries—Mrs. J. H. Hannan Jr.; Post Office—Miss Caroline Albright; Post Office (branch)—Capt. Mrs. W. W. Robinson; Churches—Mrs. Neva B. Butler; Stationery—Mrs. Ely Hutchinson; Office Buildings—Mrs. L. L. Farrell.

Actress Sues Autoist
For Mars to Beauty

STOCKTON, Dec. 12.—Suit for $25,000 has been filed in the Superior court by Maud Taylor, vaudeville actress, against David Martinez, whom she accuses of negligently driving his auto truck into her car near Beeson last October, with the result that her beauty was permanently marred, thus impairing her earning capacity. Her complaint recites that she was out about the town by night dress. She also accuses Martinez of traveling at excessive speed.

THREE MOTHERS
ATTEMPT TO KILL
SELVES; ONE DIESBerkeley Woman Plans New Effort If She Recovers From Poison.

Within the last forty-eight hours three mothers in the bay district have attempted suicide. One of these attempts at self destruction was successful. Another of the women may die. The third mother who attempted to take her life will recover, but insists that she will make another attempt as soon as an opportunity presents itself.

One of the three women turned on the gas in her room. Another shot herself. The third took poison.

The most recent of the suicide attempts occurred last night when Mrs. Eleanor Witbeck, formerly of Berkeley, aged 51 years, and mother of two small children, took poison in her coffee at the El Rosa Tanager, Twelfth and Broadway. She was taken to the emergency hospital, where it was stated that she would recover.

Inspectors Joseph Enright and Edward O'Donnell questioned her at the hospital, but she refused to reveal her identity or to give the definite motive for her attempt to take her life.

PLANS NEW ATTEMPT.

Later when Policeman Waterbury of Berkeley visited the hospital, he recognized Mrs. Witbeck, who lived at 2921 Ellis street, Berkeley, in 1920.

Mrs. Witbeck, who now lives in San Francisco, said she crossed the bay to Oakland last night with the intention of jumping off the ferryboat. She said she met a friend on the boat and postponed her attempt at self destruction, as she did not want to be known.

She declared that if she recovered she would carry out her suicide plan at the first opportunity, as she felt she had nothing to live for. She said she had been planning the deed for a year.

Mrs. Witbeck's husband works in Alameda for a wrecking company. She added that her husband has custody of their three children, who are at present in San Francisco. She said she left her husband because he beat her. At one time, according to her statement, she was in a hospital at Los Angeles with heart trouble.

Mrs. Rose McKenna, wife of Patrick McKenna, 114 Fourteenth avenue, San Francisco, was found dead in the family home by her husband yesterday. Mrs. McKenna was the mother of five children.

SHOOTING NOT FATAL.

The body was found in the bathroom. The children had been barricaded and the gas turned on. Beside the body was the following note:

"This is the only way, my dear one. Take it quick. My dear one. Take it quick."

Mrs. McKenna's five children were at school at the time of the tragedy. According to a report made to the coroner, Mrs. McKenna had been in a critical condition of health. McKenna works for a cable company.

Mrs. Janette Duffy, mother of a three-month-old baby, who attempted suicide in her home, 5176 Central avenue, yesterday, was reported to be in a critical condition today at the county hospital. Mrs. Duffy procured her husband's revolver and after putting her baby to bed, went into the bathroom and shot herself in the left breast. The bullet grazed her heart.

She was taken to the emergency hospital but was later removed to the county hospital.

Mrs. Duffy was found by her mother, Mrs. Charles Rusk, 162 Beavor street. Mrs. Duffy is 29 years old. No motive for the act was given.

Star and Key Plans
Get-Together Dance

ALAMEDA, Dec. 12.—A get-together holiday dance is being planned by members of the Star and Key Honor society of the Alameda high school for Friday night, December 15, as announced by Julia Geary, manager of the evening.

The affair will be staged in the auditorium of the Haight school in Central avenue. The decorations of the hall will be in Christmas berries and greens. Special music will be a feature of the evening.

Jury Will Consider
Indictment on Hindu

MAINTENANCE, Dec. 12.—A meeting of the grand jury has been called for today for the purpose of considering the indictment against Chauden Singh, Hindu and alleged slayer of two of his countrymen. Hindu residents of the Hotchkiss tract, where the shooting occurred and witnesses to the affair will be summoned to testify, it is said. A coroner's jury at Antioch held Chauden Singh responsible for the men's death and charged he had shot them with intent to commit murder.

An estate valued at about $20,000 is left to two children, William S. Sullivan and Helen A. Cumming by the will of Mrs. Amelia Shackelford Sullivan, who died October 25. The estate consists of real estate in Berkeley, household goods and securities. The son and daughter ask for letters of administration in the name of the widow of William K. Sullivan.

Skeleton Found By Street Excavators

A skeleton was unearthed by employees of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, who were excavating in the rear of a house at 1183 Twenty-fourth avenue. The police are working on the theory that the skeleton has been buried for years. They say that there is no way that the skeleton can be identified.

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Mrs. Emily Watrous applied for the exhumation of her husband's body to determine whether he was "really dead."

Oakland Officials Again to Demand Auto Fee Share

Commissioner Frank Colbourn, Chief of Police James T. Drew, Police Captain J. F. Lynch, Traffic Sergeant Charles Hemphill and Harold D. Weber, secretary to Mayor Davis, departed for Sacramento today with Frank Merritt, president of the League of California Municipalities and Deputy City Clerk, to hold another discussion relative to Oakland's demand for a portion of the State motor vehicles licenses and fines collected within the limits of this city.

At present, the moneys from licenses and fines go to the state and the counties, whereas it is argued that the cities are compelled to pay for expensive highways and bear the burden for portions of through roads which are really parts of the state highway, such as East Fourteenth street and San Pablo avenue, in Oakland.

It is contended by Oakland that much of the money collected in Oakland from Oakland citizens, now goes to pay for the repair of obscure roads in the outer county, which Oaklanders hardly ever see. A series of conferences on the matter is expected to be held, from time to time, until a final decision is reached.

Chinese Held Under Booze, Poison Laws

Chew Lee, a Chinese merchant, is in the city prison booked on two charges, one of violating the national prohibition act and the state prison law. He was arrested last night by Sergeant E. W. Brock, who saw him carrying a bottle into a store at 517 Webster street. Lee says that the bottle contains medicine but Sergeant Brock claims that it is a good brand of booze. When he was searched at the city prison they found a small quantity of opium in his possession.

STATE PROBATION OFFICERS WILL MEET TOMORROW

The ideal criminal court of the future and the manner in which probation will be granted, will be outlined by Rabbi Rudolph Coffee in an address before the probation officers of Northern California in their annual convention to be held at the Bellevue hotel, San Francisco tomorrow.

Rabbi Coffee is to give the principal address of the evening session which starts at 8 o'clock. Many other prominent speakers, including Judge E. C. Robinson, Judge Harold Louderbeck, Judge Sylvester J. McAtee, Judge Emmet Scawell and Dr. Virgil E. Dickson will address the convention.

penitentiary for embezzling municipal funds. He had asked for probation after pleading guilty to one count in the indictment against him, charging diversion of $3,500 of the city's money to his personal use. Other counts brought the alleged total amount embezzled to about $35,000.
